Can't sit on picks as you don't like collegium: SC

Raps law minister's comments; opposes cherry-picking of names

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

EXPRESSING deep anguish over the Centre failure to abide by the timelines laid down last year on appointments to the higher judiciary, the Supreme Court on Monday urged the Attorney General and Solicitor General of India to advise the government and ensure the law of the land is followed.

A bench of justices S K Kaul and A S Oka said, "Once the name is reiterated, that's the end of the matter of the law as it stands. When recommendation is made, you cannot hold back the name without stating the reason. It is frustrating the whole system. No court can see violation of its order."

Noting that out of 68 pending collegium recommendations, 21 were on hold for over one-and-a-half years, the bench said the delay may be linked to the Centre's unhappiness over the National Judicial Appointments Commission (NJAC) failing to pass muster in the SC.

"It appears to be an unhappiness of the government on the fact that NJAC didn't muster constitutional mandate. Sometimes they muster mandate and sometimes they don't. That cannot be a reason not to comply with law of the land. See the consequences, some law of yours may be upheld by the SC, there may be society that's unhappy by it, can that section of society say that they will not follow the law of the land," Justice Kaul said.

He added that the timelines had gone completely haywire.

The court took umbrage to Union law minister Kiren Rijiju's recent statement, "never say that the government is sitting on the files, then don't send the files to the government, you appoint yourself, you run the show then." Justice Kaul said, "Let us give them the power, we've no difficulty. I ignore all press reports, when someone high enough says let them do it themselves, then we'll do it ourselves. All I'm saying is it should not have come. It's an interview and it's difficult to deny what you say."

The bench said the Centre was crossing some rubicons by keeping names pending. It also criticised the cherry-picking of names from different lists, which affects seniority and hampers the quality of judicial appointment, which is in nobody's interest.

On April 20, 2021, a three-judge SC bench had laid down a broad timeline for appointments. It included IB submitting its report within 4-6 weeks from the date of recommendation of the HC collegium to the Centre; govt to forward file(s) to the SC within 8-12 weeks; and making appointment on SC collegium's recommendation immediately.

DON'T MAKE US TAKE A DECISION, SAYS BENCH

"For the last two months, the whole thing has come to a standstill.... Please resolve it....Don't make us take a decision on this in the judicial side," the bench told the Attorney General and Solicitor General and posted the matter for further hearing on December 8

Religious freedom doesn't include fundamental right to convert, Centre tells SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Monday told the Supreme Court that the right to freedom of religion enshrined under Article 25 of the Constitution does not include a fundamental right to convert people to a particular religion, not in the least if it is done through fraud, deception, coercion or allurement.

The Centre's submission came in response to a plea by lawyer and BJP leader Ashwini Upadhyay.

"The Union of India is cognizant of the gravity and the seriousness of the issue raised in the present writ petition. It is submitted that such enactments are necessary for protecting cherished rights of vulnerable sections of the society including women and economically and socially backward classes," the Centre's affidavit stated.

Upadhyay's plea had sought to declare religious conversions by means of fraud, threat, or monetary benefits as violative of fundamental rights.

The Supreme Court asked the Centre to get information from all states on the steps taken by them in this regard. "This is a very serious issue. There cannot be any forced conversion & that's what we are concerned of," a bench of Justices M R Shah and C T Ravikumar said.

The Centre said in its affidavit that Odisha, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka and Haryana already have a legislation to curb this practice.

Earlier, the bench had said that everyone has the right to freedom of religion but not by forced conversion, which it termed "a very dangerous thing". It added that such practices might affect the security of the nation.

Upadhyay's plea was filed against the backdrop of the suicide of 17-year-old Lavanya in Tamil Nadu.

Next hearing on Dec 5

While deferring hearing on the matter to December 5, the court asked the Centre to find out information on what the states have done in the matter. The bench said instead of issuing notice to each state, it was asking the Centre to collate info

40 Maha villages seek to merge with K'taka

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

AMID the ongoing tussle between leaders of Karnataka and Maharashtra over the simmering boundary dispute between the two neighbouring states, residents of 40 villages in Jath taluk in Sangli district on Maharashtra border, mostly inhabited by Kannadigas, have expressed their desire to see their areas merged with Karnataka. Slamming the Maharashtra government for neglecting their villages for decades and depriving them of basic amenities like roads and irrigation facilities, the villagers said they would prefer to be part of Karnataka if the Maharashtra government continues to neglect them.

President of Umadi Niravari Horata Samiti in Jath taluk, Sunil Potdar said, "We have been demanding basic amenities in our villages in Jath taluk for the past decade, but in vain. Our demands have fallen on deaf ears. It's time that our villages are merged with Karnataka." He welcomed the recent statement of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai who backed the demand of Kannadigas for merger of their region, including Solapur and Akkalkot, with Karnataka.

A prominent local leader Shambu Mamadapur, also president of the Danamma Temple Trust of Guddapur in Jath taluk, said the villagers of Guddapur have been demanding the development of roads for several decades but the Maharashtra government has not done anything about it. People in most of these 40 villages are upset that the government has neglected Kannada schools and said that it was the Karnataka government which sanctioned Rs 15 crore for the development of schools in the border areas, besides giving grants for the construction of Kannada Bhavan in recent years. The villagers said the roads leading to Danamma Temple, one of the famous religious places in the region, are pathetic even as more than 10,000 devotees visit the shrine everyday. P4

Rahul says both Gehlot, Pilot are assets

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi on Monday took the middle ground in the raging controversy over Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot calling his former deputy Sachin Pilot a traitor, saying both are assets for the party.

"I don't want to go into who is saying what, all I can say is both leaders (Gehlot and Pilot) are assets for the party. I can guarantee that whatever is going on in Rajasthan isn't going to affect the Bharat Jodo Yatra there," Rahul said in Indore.

Gehlot's barb was in retaliation to Pilot attacking him for the 'interesting' praise he drew from Prime Minister Narendra Modi during their recent meeting. To restore peace among the warring factions and insulate Rahul's yatra in Rajasthan from the fallout of the rift, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge's emissary K C Venugopal will reach Jaipur on Tuesday. The Bharat Jodo Yatra is scheduled to enter Rajasthan next week.

A day earlier, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh had said the experience of Gehlot and the energy and youth of Pilot were equally important, adding he was surprised by the chief minister's choice of words for Pilot.

MAHE suspends prof for calling student 'Kasab'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

THE Manipal Institute of Technology (MIT) in Udupi suspended a professor after he allegedly called a student 'Ajmal Kasab', a Pakistani terrorist who was hanged in 2012 after being convicted in the 26/11 Mumbai terror attack case which took place in 2008.

A video of the professor making the remark during a class last week has gone viral on social media. In the video, the first year engineering student whom the professor called 'Kasab' can be heard raising serious objection and telling him that it is not at all acceptable. "Will you talk to your son like this? Will you call him by the name of a terrorist? How can you call me like that in front of so many people in the class," the student tells the professor. The professor is heard telling "sorry dude" to which the student replies, "Sorry doesn't change how you think, how you portray yourself".

In a social media post, the student says that though the racist comment was not acceptable, he would however let it go as he believed that the professor did not mean it. "It can be ignored this time," he reportedly posted.

Acting swiftly, Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE) placed the professor under suspension and ordered an inquiry into the matter. In a communique, MAHE said that it does not condone such kind of behaviour and this isolated incident will be dealt with in accordance with the laid down policy of the institute.

Though there are no conclusive inputs throwing light on the background of this incident and why the professor made such a remark against a student, the incident reportedly happened in the classroom on the day of the anniversary of the November 26, 2008 terror attack in Mumbai.

In the 49-second video that went viral, the student can be seen taking strong objection to the remark. P4

Excess rainfall hits sowing of rabi crops in state

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

EXCESS rain during September and October this year has hampered sowing of rabi crops at many places in Karnataka. Rabi crops or rabi harvest, also known as winter crops, are agricultural crops that are sown in winter and harvested in spring in India. As on date, sowing in Karnataka has been done in 74 per cent of the total target area, which is likely to impact the yield.

All the major reservoirs in the state are full. State Agriculture Department had set a target of 26.68 lakh hectares for sowing of rabi crops, of which 74 per cent has been covered. Experts point out that excess rainfall has caused oversaturation of soil moisture affecting sowing of the crops this season. Even if they sow, seedlings will not survive due to heavily saturated soil. As per data available with Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre, during this year's monsoon (June to September), 20 districts of the total 31 districts of the state witnessed rainfall.

G S Srinivasa Reddy, senior consultant with Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority (KSDMA) said, this year, the situation is peculiar. Because of heavy rain, there is more moisture in the soil which has not drained out at many places. During rabi season, jowar, wheat, bengal gram, and black gram, among others, are sown. "If sowing was done in September, harvesting could be done from January to March, depending on each crop. The rain in November or December would help vegetation grow further," he said.

Woman abused, hit for not knowing Kannada

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A woman from Punjab was allegedly abused and beaten up by a group of women who accused her of not knowing how to speak Kannada. The incident happened near a government school at Doddabommasandra in Vidyaranyapura police station limits.

The victim Neelamjit Kaur (46), who is a stylist, owns a salon and spa in the city. She is from Ludhiana in Punjab. Kaur was surrounded by a group of angry women when she applied sudden brakes of her scooty in a bid to save a 7-year-old child.

She told the parents of the child to take care of the kid and not to leave him unattended on the road. This resulted in an argument and a group of women who started gathering began abusing her for not knowing Kannada. They even asked her to go away from Karnataka.

Frustrated over this, she started making a video of the unruly mob following which she was beaten by some women with a plastic pipe.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

The group also pulled her hair. The incident happened between 10 pm and 10.15 pm on Friday.

"It appears that somebody who was not even involved in the initial argument passed a comment on Kaur that she does not know Kannada and that she is an outsider. Kaur was alone and did not find support from anyone. The allegation about her having been beaten by other women is being checked. We are examining the CCTV footage in the vicinity. Nobody has been arrested or taken into custody for questioning so far. The case is still under investigation. Those found guilty will be punished," a police officer, who is part of the investigation, told The New Indian Express.

The Vidyaranyapura police have registered cases under IPC 143 (unlawful assembly), IPC 323 (voluntarily causing hurt) IPC 324 (causing hurt by dangerous weapons).

EXAM TIME

PU timetable out, Kannada, Arabic papers advanced

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

The Karnataka School Examination and Assessment Board (KSEAB) has announced the final timetable for the 2nd PUC CBSE board examinations, scheduled to be held from March 9 to March 29.

KSEAB had published the tentative schedule on October 21 and had called for objections, if any. While the final timetable remains virtually the same, the Kannada and Arabic papers, which were to be held on March 10, will now be held on March 9.

According to sources in the Education Department, the decision was taken as the majority of complaints were regarding the scheduling of the Mathematics paper. "We had received around 400 objections, of which a majority of them concerned the time given for the Mathematics paper. In the initial timetable, the Mathematics exam was immediately after the Kannada and Arabic papers. To remedy this, we have advanced the Kannada and Arabic exam by a day, to give the students more time to prepare," they said.

No toy train tracks near lake boundary, HC tells BBMP

Palike can construct SWD; puts recreational infra work at Mallathahalli Lake on hold

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) not to lay tracks for a toy train within 30 metres of the outer boundary wall of Mallathahalli Lake. However, it has permitted BBMP to carry out work on diversion of solid waste, leachate/sewage water flowing into the lake by constructing stormwater drains and other development works, in terms of permission granted by the state government.

A division bench of Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order on the public interest litigation filed by social activist Geetha Misra, through which court is monitoring the development of lakes.

Before this, petitioner's counsel GR Mohan prayed to court to pass a stay order on construction of a railway track for a toy train, hanging bridge and glass house, stop dumping debris on the lake bed, remove encroachments from the lake and buffer zone immediately.

The BBMP, in flagrant violation of Section 12 of the Karnataka Tank Conservation and Development Authority Act, 2014, is constructing recreational infrastructure within 30m of the boundary wall of the lake, he argued.

However, the petitioner has no grievance with regard to works undertaken for improvement of the lakebed, pathway for the lake and construction of a retaining wall for the lake, but the objection is only with regard to construction of a glass house, hanging bridge, pathway bridge, and for providing a bridge for a toy train track.

In reply, BBMP's counsel submitted that construction of the glass house, hanging bridge and pathway bridge had been put on hold and BBMP will not carry out any construction activity without permission of the court. Work on the train track was undertaken after obtaining permission from the state government and Lake Development Authority, he argued.

Plea filed on slum clearance

An application was filed on behalf of the Slum Clearance Board, seeking modification of the order dated September 12, 2022, on the ground that encroachment of 1 acre 17 guntas of Subramanyapura lake is not a notified slum, therefore, the Board has no authority to take action for removal of encroachments. DIABETES CHECKS AT NAMMA CLINICS FOR THOSE OVER 30

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN order to curb non-communicable diseases (NCDs), the upcoming Namma Clinics will have diabetes screenings for everyone over the age of 30, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said here on Monday.

He was speaking at the Arogya City Summit on Friday, organised by Arogya World and B.Pac, to stem the growth of NCDs. "The government has decided to start 438 'Namma Clinics' in urban areas to manage and curb the rise in non-communicable diseases. Such clinics are being started primarily to cater to people in slums and other areas where the poor reside. A database of people with and at risk of NCDs will be created after conducting mass screenings at Namma Clinics. Around 75% of diabetics are not receiving treatment. Therefore, everyone above the age of 30 is being screened for diabetes," he said.

Sudhakar said the state government is aiming to conduct health checkups for 100 per cent of the state's population in the next 18 months. "At least 50 per cent of the state's population has already been screened for non-communicable diseases in the past three years. NCDs are bothering society more than infectious diseases and taking a heavy toll on developing and underdeveloped countries," he said.

He said that 200 Namma Clinics are ready, of which 100 are to be inaugurated within the next month, and clinics in Bengaluru are to be inaugurated in a week. The BBMP has invited applications for doctors at clinics on a year-long contract basis. Interested candidates have been asked to apply in person to the BBMP Chief Health Officer with relevant original documents. Eligible candidates should have an MBBS degree and KMC registration.

Action against nursing colleges

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said strict action will be taken against unlicensed nursing institutions in the state. "There are around 850 nursing colleges in the state. Some institutions were given permission by previous governments, without checking infrastructure. We will form a committee to conduct a review of these institutions. Appropriate action will be taken after we receive the report," he said.

Govt girl's PU campus to offer edu till post-grad

ENS @ Bengaluru

In only its first year of existence, Bengaluru City University's (BCU) first Multidisciplinary Constituent College for Women has over 300 students.

The college celebrated its first anniversary on Monday, with Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan inaugurating new laboratories. The institution, situated on the campus of the Government Girls' PU College in Malleswaram, is the first such constituent college for women to be established by BCU in the city. "The women's college initially had a small number of female students. Now, this number has increased to over 300. The quality of education here is better than at private colleges," he stated.

Meanwhile, the minister also laid the foundation stone for a government primary school on the campus of the PU college. The school is to be established at a cost of Rs 11.25 crore. He added that eventually, the complete campus would be able to provide education from the anganwadi-level to the post-graduate level. "The new primary school to be built in this premises will have both Kannada and English mediums of education," Narayan said.

K-RERA orders forensic audit of Mantri Energia project

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

The Karnataka Real Estate Regulatory Authority of India (K-RERA) recently ordered a forensic audit into the account books of Mantri Technology Constellation Private Limited (now known as Buoyant Technology Consellations Pvt Ltd) in connection with its 'Mantri Manyata Energia' project at Rachenahalli village in K R Puram Hobli.

A forensic audit, which involves intense scrutiny of a company's accounts to track its money trail, is done in the rarest of rare cases.

The order, passed on November 9, has just been made public. K-RERA also appointed CAs, JAA & Associates, to conduct the audit under Section 35 of the Act with immediate effect. The complainants (home buyers) have been directed to bear the costs towards the audit by depositing funds with the authority, it said.

RERA Chairman H C Kishore Chandra, Member Neelamani N Raju and former member D Vishnuaradhana Reddy had visited the project in September 2021 to ascertain the reality of the project. Chandra told TNIE, "This kind of an audit is ordered very rarely."

Only the skeletal structure of Mantri Manyata Energia is ready

The buyers wanted to verify if the real estate promoter has invested the huge amount collected from them towards the construction of their flats or mismanaged the funds for other purposes.

The complainants allege that only 3 per cent of the work has been completed, but the builder has collected Rs 75.17 crore from the buyers, out of Rs 475.92 crore required for the project.

N Bhagyalakshmi, Promoter Member of the Forum for People's Collective Efforts, which is at the forefront of the fight for rights of home buyers told TNIE, "It is a battle fought for four long years by buyers through Lawman and Associates. Each of the over 100 buyers who have complained against the concern has invested an average of Rs 1.2 crore in the project. Only a skeletal structure is in place. They have neither got their house nor any refund."

The National Company Law Tribunal had suppended the Board of the company in June this year and appointed retired Karnataka High Court judge Justice Anand Byrareddy as administrator.

PETER VIDAL

29TH November: Recently I was asked about the famous number thirteen. Some people think it's unlucky. But not many people know the origin of this superstition - so let me remind you. It dates back to the time in the Middle East, two thousand years ago, when there was a clash between supporters of the year of twelve solar months and the alternative of thirteen lunar months. Twelve won and unlucky thirteen lost.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Some of you have forgotten how to be youthful and young at heart. If you have a celestial task over the next few weeks, it is to rediscover the art of being spontaneous, joyful, and even a little irresponsible. It could feel as if a massive weight has been lifted from your shoulders.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your planets really can't decide what they're doing or where they're going, which makes your astrologer's job even more difficult than usual. Let's just accept that your stars are generally confident, and that you should finish the day odds-on.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's because you had the good fortune to be born a Gemini that you have the right to change your mind as often as you wish. As from this month a whole range of decisions and choices are plunged into the melting pot, much to partners' annoyance. But that's their problem!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Go over all financial commitments with a fine tooth comb, and try to spot the deliberate error! This is advice, by the way, which you must follow up to at least well into the next month. Another consideration is that romantic expenses are set to spiral.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Certain old ideas, proposals or suggestions are now due to receive a new lease of life. But your biggest weakness over the next two weeks could be complacency, and if a wondrous opportunity should float past, you must grab it firmly with both hands.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You've got to do what's expected of you without sacrificing your own interests. The trick is to perform your daily responsibilities with your usual skill, but avoid being sucked into a mind-numbing routine. There will be a host of little ways in which you can amuse yourself while keeping the authorities happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mars is playing a double game, encouraging you to go behind other people's backs now, but planning to bring everything into the open very soon. This should surely be sufficient to encourage you to behave according to only the highest standards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
our romantic predilections and aspirations are already showing a shift back towards pride and vanity, just for a short period. This means that you will expect partners to have sufficient achievements to justify your being seen with them in public.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The best that you can hope for from several of your current stars is a large windfall, the least is the promise of financial reward some time in the indefinite future. The one qualification is that you must rely on your own efforts: luck doesn't come into it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your adventurous energies may soon have to be put on ice, but as long as time is on your side, you may press ahead with travel plans and improvements to your personal life. However, one way or another, you should check that there is nothing amiss as soon as possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You are about to find that close partners or spouses, can be terribly annoying. It now looks as if someone is about to go back on their word, but the twist is that this time they're likely to be on your side! Hopefully their support will be good for you!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You sometimes tend to forget just how important it is to remain physically fit. Hopefully you will now return to a diet or exercise regime that was abandoned, perhaps before you even started! Some of you may be even tackling a new competitive sport.

Yesterday's Jumbles: LEGAL PROUD ORATOR AFLAME
Answer: The tree wasn't growing coconuts like it should. To find out why, they hired a — PALM READER

A 16-year-old first year PU student committed suicide over an academic setback. The deceased is Tripthi, a resident of Perdoor, who was studying at a private PU college in Hebri. Tripthi had reportedly scored good marks in SSLC and had obtained a seat in the college. However, she scored low marks in a recent test and was admonished by the college management. On Sunday evening, she ended her life by hanging at her house. Based on a complaint by Suresh Mendon, the victim's father, Hiriyadka police have registered a case

One more held in voter data scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Halasuru Gate police, investigating the alleged voter data tampering and impersonation case, arrested one more person in this connection. Anil, a representative of Chilume Educational Cultural and Rural Development Organisation, was picked up from the outskirts of Bengaluru.

Police said that the accused was involved in an impersonation case and was absconding. "We will produce him before the court on Tuesday. So far, 11 people have been arrested, including 4 BBMP officials."

Police first arrested Dharmesh and Renuka Prasad, Chilume staff from the Malleswaram office of the NGO, and after producing them in court, took them into eight-day police custody. Later, police managed to arrest NGO directors Kempegowda and Ravikumar, and later Lokesh.

The NGO, which was to engage in Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation, was reportedly involved in impersonation and tampering of voter data. Due to alleged manipulation of the poll process, the Election Commission suspended two IAS officers -- BBMP Special Commissioner S Rangappa and Bengaluru Urban DC K Srinivas, who were also Additional Electoral Registration Officers. The government appointed ZP CEO Sangappa as Bengaluru Urban DC and Solid Waste Commissioner Harish Kumar as Admin Commissioner with additional charge.

Cops harassing officers: BBMP workers' union

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @BENGALURU

AS investigation continues into the voter data tampering case in Shivajinagar, Chickpet and Mahadevapura assembly segments of the BBMP, the Palike workers' union has alleged harassment by police and is contemplating seeking anticipatory bail for Electoral Revenue Officers (ERO) and Assistant Electoral Revenue Officers (AERO).

Union president Amruth Raj told TNIE that BBMP officers are facing police torture on the pretext of inquiry, and women officers are forced to sit till 10pm at the station concerned.

"Cases are registered under CrPC, including IPC 406, 419, 420 and 120B, charges have been pressed and notices sent. Hence, a representation was handed over to CM Basavaraj Bommai seeking his intervention for a single agency inquiry," said Raj. On Monday, about 30 officers had gathered at the union office in the Palike premises. "We have approached lawyers and will be securing anticipatory bail as on the pretext of inquiry, officers are being arrested. At least 10 to 15 more officials fear similar treatment,," Raj said

DCP Central R Srinivas Gowda refuted charges of 'harassment'. "We are going by the complaint given by senior BBMP officials," he said.

Three terror operatives plead guilty, get 7 yrs

Bengaluru: Three members of Jamat-ul-Mujahideen Bangladesh (JMB) were convicted by a special court for NIA cases after they pleaded guilty. Najir Sheikh aka Patla Anas aka Bhuthala aka Sohail (25), Habibur Rahman SK aka Habibur Kabor Shaik aka Talha (28) and Mosaraf Hossain aka Moosa (22), all from West Bengal, were convicted. The NIA had arrested several persons suspected to be JMB members in 2018, and charges were framed against 12, under various sections of the IPC and UAPA. Najir Sheikh, Habibur Rahaman and Mosaraf Hossain had moved a petition pleading guilty to charges, and court for allowing their petition. They said they were misled and given a wrong impression to commit the alleged acts.

Woman ends life, parents allege murder

Bengaluru: A 29-year-old woman ended her life by hanging herself at her house in New Gurappanapalya in Suddaguntepalya police station limits. The deceased Katija Khubra, wife of Mehboob Sharif, was a scrap merchant. Police said Khubra and Sharif married in 2007 and have four children. On Sunday night, she reportedly contacted her husband and asked him to take care of the kids. "She was found hanging in her room when Sharif returned home on Monday. He informed her parents, who stay in JP Nagar, and alerted the police. Khubra's parents, however, have accused Sharif of having an illict relationship and alleged their daughter was murdered by Sharif," the police said.

Rider, pillion run over by BBMP garbage truck

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru:

A bike rider and his pillion were killed on the spot after their bike was hit by a garbage truck, reportedly attached to the BBMP. The incident happened at Hulikuntte Gate in Doddabelavangala police station limits in Bengaluru Rural police limits, around 5pm Monday.

Fearing assault, the truck driver fled in his vehicle when other motorists who witnessed the accident, chased him for nearly 15km and caught him. Locals protested by not allowing police to shift the bodies from the spot. They also blocked the road, claiming garbage trucks are posing danger to the lives of motorists. They demanded that the local MLA visit the spot and also urged the authorities to close the MSGP waste tech park located in Chiguranahalli.

The deceased are identified as M Mahesh, 35, and R Maruthi, 35, both residents of Maralukuntte near Sompura in Nelamangala taluk. The incident happened on NH207. The truck driver, who fled from Doddabelavangala, was caught near Thyamgondalu, which is almost 15km from the accident spot.

"The rider and pillion died on the spot. The local MLA and civic authorities visited the area and managed to persuade the protesters," Bengaluru district SP Mallikarjun Baladandi said.

The protesters recalled the previous accident, where a 28-year-old rider lost his life due to a garbage truck on September 4, near Moogenahalli cross, in the same police station limits. The bike rider, 28-year-old R Raja, a resident of Mavinakuntte village, had died after the truck hit his bike when he was going home after buying chicken. The truck was coming from the opposite direction. The driver had fled the scene after abandoning the truck. Residents had also protested with the same demands. Doddabelavangala police registered a case and are further investigating.

Border dispute: CM to meet legal experts in Delhi today

To discuss strategy with legal team; SC to hear case tomorrow

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai offers puja at Sri Srikanteshwara Swamy Temple in Nanjangud on Monday | UDAYSHANKAR S

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru/Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai will hold a meeting with legal experts, including senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, in New Delhi on Tuesday to discuss the Karnataka-Maharashtra border row. Bommai left for the national capital on Monday night.

The CM told reporters in Mysuru that the case pertaining to the border dispute is coming up for hearing in the Supreme Court on Wednesday and during his meeting with the legal experts, he will discuss the state strategy. The state's stand will be effectively presented before the court, he said.

The government has appointed former judge of the Supreme Court Justice Shivaraj Patil as chairman of the Karnataka Border and Rivers Protection Commission and a meeting was held on Sunday to discuss the issue, the CM said.

Responding to a question on reports about people in border areas of Maharashtra waiting for the inclusion of their villages into Karnataka, Bommai said it is not correct to discuss it in public since the matter is pending before the court and it will be decided in the court. Bommai said Justice Patil also advised him that speaking about issues that are before the SC will have an impact on the case.

The opposition parties have been supporting the government when it comes to land, language and water issues, but when it comes to politics, all parties do their politics, he said. During his visit to the national capital, the CM is also expected to meet Union ministers to discuss development issues and may meet BJP president JP Nadda.

Kannadigas in majority in 40 villages

AT least one lakh devotees throng the temple on Kartik Amavasya and 95 per cent of them are Kannadigas, they said, adding that not even a single paisa has been released by the Maharashtra government for the benefit of devotees. However, the Karnataka government released Rs 12 crore to the temple trust in the last eight years, the villagers said.

All the 40 villages, which are predominantly occupied by Kannadigas in Jath taluk, are located close to Athani taluk in the border areas. According to sources, Kannadigas form more than 90% of the population in these 40 villages. The people of all the 40 villages organised a Gram Sabha at Guddapur in 2012 and urged the Maharashtra government to develop their area or allow them to merge with Karnataka. The villagers had also staged a protest in this connection in front of the DC's office in Sangli.

Noted litterateur Chandrashekhar Patil had attended the meeting at Guddapur and had told the villagers that he would meet Bommai and bring the facts to his notice.

Meanwhile, a team of Karnataka Rakshna Vedike from Kagwad visited Balgaon in Jath taluk on Monday and invited Kannadigas to come to Karnataka.

Cong's Sachidananda, his aides join BJP

Indavalu S Sachidananda and his followers join BJP on Monday

IN a boost to BJP in the Old Mysuru region, a large contingent of second-line Congress leaders, led by former KPCC member Indavalu S Sachidananda, who had backed Mandya independent MP Sumalatha Ambareesh during the 2019 LS polls, joined BJP on Monday.

It has been interpreted as Sumalatha letting her followers, especially fans of Ambareesh, to join BJP to help the party ahead of polls. She and her son Abhishek may take a decision soon, sources said.

Sachidanand, his father-in-law SL Lingaraju, who lost the 2013 elections as a BJP candidate, and others joined BJP. It is considered a major jolt to Congress in the Srirangapatna Assembly constituency as Sachidananda is likely to be the BJP candidate in the polls. If that happens, he will take on JDS MLA Raveendra Srikantaiah and Ramesh Bandisidde Gowda of Congress.

But his joining did not go down well with local BJP leaders. BJP Raitha Morcha state vice-president KS Nanjunde Gowda said he too is in the race for the BJP ticket. "No one can declare himself a BJP candidate as the party high command takes the final decision," said Gowda.

Speaking at an event to welcome the new entrants into the party, BJP state vice-president Nirmal Kumar Surana claimed that there is a BJP wave in Mandya district and Sachidananda's entry will give further boost.

BJP is liberating Mandya district from the clutches of Congress and JDS, which are family parties that field candidates from political families, said Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan said.

"Unable to cope up with the slavery in JDS leaders are keen on joining BJP which is the only pro-people party," he said. Former minister CP Yogishwar said there is no scarcity of candidates for BJP in Mandya. Ministers KC Narayana Gowda and Gopalaiah also felt the party is going from strength to strength in the district.

Cane farmers continue strike, women wield barukolu

As the sugarcane farmers' dharna entered the seventh day, women members of the Raitha Sangha demonstrated a 'barukolu' struggle by wielding whips at Freedom Park on Monday. "The government is favouring sugar factory owners and has ignored farmers. The government should wake up to address our issues, especially a hike in FRP," said Raitha Sangha women wing president G V Laksmidevi. They are demanding a hike in the Fair Remunerative Price for sugarcane from to at least `3,500 per tonne. "There is no state in the country where elected representatives are not owners of sugar factories. We may resort to a different kind of strike, if the government does not meet our demands," warned farmer leader Kurubur Shanthakumar.

Silent Sunil on dais with BJP MPs, party singed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A harmless blood donation camp in Bengaluru on Sunday put BJP in a fix as party MPs from the city, PC Mohan and Tejasvi Surya, found themselves on the dais with a dreaded underworld criminal, Silent Sunil, who is wanted in more than 30 offences.

Their participation set off a barrage of criticism from opposition parties and their own party members.

Former Chamrajpet BJP MLA Pramila Nesargi said, "The people of Chamarajpet have been insulted and they are pained to see this. I condemn it."

Asked about some leaders defending the party, she said, "I condemn everyone from the party who ventures out to defend such action. If anyone is interested in the party's wellbeing they should not defend this. I condemn the parliamentarians also who participated."

PC Mohan said, "It was a blood donation camp. Tejasvi and I did not know that it was a function with a stage. But once we went on the dais, it was too late. We regret participating in this programme."

Tejasvi Surya's team too said they did not know the guest list and the MP went because it was mentioned that a record number of people were donating blood.

BJP leader NR Ramesh, who too attended the event, said, "I went because it was organised by the Rashtrotthana trust. They collected about 1,183 units of blood which was the second highest amount collected. I did not know about the participation of others like Silent Sunil." Just as this issue was settling down, another underworld element Fighter Ravi participated in an event where IT-BT Minister CN Ashwath Narayan too was attending on Monday. The minister said, "Everyone should be given a chance. It is wrong to name everyone a rowdy sheeter and opportunities are available for criminals to correct themselves."

Congress tweeted, "The police are looking for Silent Sunil who is participating with the BJP leaders at a function on stage." In another tweet, it said, "All the ₹wanted' criminals are in demand in the BJP. BJP Karnataka is a ₹Rowdy House' by keeping Rowdy Sheeters inside the party and getting them to join the party. They have maintained their Rowdy culture by getting a rowdy Fighter Ravi to join the party."

Bommai will meet Nadda, may discuss cabinet rejig

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

WITH CM Basavaraj Bommai visiting New Delhi again on Tuesday, there is a buzz again of cabinet expansion and reshuffle as he is expected to meet and discuss the issue with BJP national president JP Nadda.

Though Nadda is tied up with the Municipal Corporation of Delhi elections, he is likely to give an appointment to Bommai.

Having a full-fledged cabinet by inducting leaders, especially former RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa and Ramesh Jarkiholi, may come up for discussion. However, the cabinet expansion decision is likely only after the announcement of the Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh election results on December 8, a BJP leader said.

Bommai is likely to bat for ST Nayaka leader Rajugouda, SC leader and Kudachi MLA P Rajiv, and Kollegal MLA N Mahesh, as their induction will send the right message to these communities after the SC/ST quota hike.

BOMMAI PLAYS SOCIAL JUSTICE CARD, TARGETS SIDDU'S HOME DISTRICT

SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

WITH Karnataka getting into the poll mood and BJP organising frequent rallies to woo voters from different strata of society, the party is now playing the social justice card to win over Dalits and backward classes.

CM Basavaraj Bommai, who was here on Monday, launched a series of development projects in the Nanjangud Assembly constituency and claimed that the party will win the 2023 Assembly election with a big margin.

Without taking the name of Opposition leader Siddaramaiah, Bommai said a few leaders have made social justice their slogan, whereas BJP is implementing it in spirit as the party believes in inclusive growth. He said the opposition treats people as vote banks, while BJP has a sense of gratitude towards voters.

The government feels the pulse and aspirations of all communities and wants to improve their living condition and bring the marginalised to the mainstream, he said. "We have exhibited the political will to increase the reservation for SC/STs and encourage them to pursue education by constructing 100 Ambedkar hostels, and mega hostels in education hubs," he added.

We've shown political will to hike SC/ST quota and encourage them to pursue education

Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

He said the government has launched the Rs 80 crore Nugu lift irrigation and tank filling projects. He also announced that Badanavalu area, which is drought prone, will also be covered under the projects to provide villagers with drinking water. The government will extend all support to the Equality Complex in Nanjangud, he said and added that the temple town will be developed into a prominent tourism and religious centre.

Irrigation Minister Govind Karjol said the government has spent Rs 5,700 crore on works in the Cauvery basin and Rs 450 crore to strengthen 618 tanks.

Gathering more details on UCC from other states, says CM

Mysuru:Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that the state government is gathering more information and monitoring developments in other states on the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) before taking a decision on implementing it in the state.Bommai observed that the BJP has been talking about UCC for over three decades, and said that committees have been formed in other states to implement the code. However, he clarified that neither Union Home Minister Amit Shah nor any other ministers have spoken to him regarding the issue. Reacting to farmers' allegation that the government procures paddy from only coastal areas, he said that farmers have a wrong notion that the paddy procurement centers have been opened in Mangaluru alone, adding that this has been done as the coastal region consumes boiled rice. The government will open procurement centres in Mysuru, Mandya, Gangavathi, and in other places across the state, the CM said. When the chief minister was apprised that 135 heritage structures are lying in a dilapidated states, and experts have demanded Rs 500 crore per year for its conservation, he said that the proposal will be considered based on the financial situation. Meanwhile, commenting on the voter ID card which can be downloaded for Rs 300 from a website, he said that there are many websites from where the card can be downloaded which is being also looked into as part of the investigation, including reports that prime suspect in the Mangaluru blast case Mohammed Shariq had also been issued a voter ID.

Shariq shared videos of al-Qaeda with other accused

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mangaluru

Mohammed Shariq, the prime accused in the Mangaluru blast case, was allegedly inspired by al-Qaeda and he had saved and shared videos of the organisation with the other two accused in the case, Maaz Muneer Ahmed and Sayyad Yasin, sources said.

"Shariq had videos on war in Afghanistan, al-Qaeda and ISIS speeches which were translated to Urdu. He used to send PDF files, videos, audios and links related to extremism, radicalisation, works of ISIS and other terror organisations through Telegram, Signal, Instagram, Wire, Element etc, to Yasin and had brainwashed Maaz, both accused of burning the national flag in Shivamogga. The three were also found to be members of channels run on Telegram by ISIS' official media center Al-Hayat. Shariq used to profess the ideologies of Islamic State (IS)," a source said.

Shariq and his associates allegedly wanted to establish 'caliphate' and impose Sharia law. "Shariq believed they should carry out a 'jihad' against 'Kafirs'. He used to share PDFs on bomb-making with his accomplices, and they had also bought timer-relay circuits online before a trial blast in Shivamogga. They had stored explosives before the Mangaluru blast. Shariq had sent money for bombs to Yasin through crypto," an officer said.

'Campus must be place of harmony'

President of Students Islamic Organisation (SIO) of India, Udupi district, Afwan B Hoode condemned the incident and said that the campus should be a place to spread religious harmony and not bigotry.

"The mindset of the professor to spread hatred against a religion is worrying and causes damage to the foundation of the Constitution. This kind of attitude by a professor will further create fear in the minds of students from minority community," he said.

'PROMISES WILL BE KEPT'

If elected, Cong govt will resolve issues of Sharavathi evacuees, says Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Shivamogga

Asserting that Congress will definitely seize power after the 2023 Assembly elections, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Monday said the Congress government will resolve all issues of Malnad farmers, including those concerning Sharavathi evacuees.

Speaking at the Janakrosha meeting, organised to protect the interests of Sharavathi evacuees in the city, Siddaramaiah came down heavily against the BJP government and ridiculed CM Basavaraj Bommai, former CM BS Yediyurappa and former minister KS Eshwarappa for not addressing the problems of the evacuees.

He said a committee, headed by Ramesh Hegde, has submitted a report on the problems of the farming community, Sharavathi evacuees and bagair hukum cultivators of the Malnad region.

He said BJP, in its manifesto before the 2018 Assembly elections had made 600 promises, but met only 25 of them, while 30 promises have not been fully implemented. "But our government in 2013 met 157 of the 169 assurances made. BJP leaders and the government have betrayed the people by not keeping their promise," he said.

During his tenure as CM, he constituted a committee under the chairmanship of principal secretary Madangopal to resolve the issues of Sharavathi evacuees. The committee recommended that title deeds be issued to the evacuees as per the Act prevailed between 1959 and 1970, under which it was not necessary to take the permission of the Centre. "Our government issued the title deeds. But now the high court has directed the government to take prior permission from the central government," he said.

On the suicide of contractor Santhosh Patil, who had alleged that political leaders were demanding a high percentage of commission for projects, Siddaramaiah asked why was a B report filed in the case against Eshwarappa.

Our government in 2013 met 157 of the 169 assurances made. BJP leaders and the government have betrayed the people by not keeping their promise

Siddaramaiah, Legislature Party leader

On Bommai's statement that the Centre supplies free rice, Siddaramaiah said the Manmohan Singh government passed the Food Security Act. "It was the Congress government that gave free rice to four crore people in the state. But the BJP government reduced it from 7 kg to 5kg. If Congress comes to power, we will give 10 kg of rice free to the poor," he said.

He ridiculed PM Narendra Modi for not replying to a letter written by the State Contractors Association about government representatives demanding 40 per cent commission.

KPCC working president Dhruvanarayana, Congress leader Kagodu Thimmappa, party state V-P Revanna, former minister Kimmane Rathnakar, MLA BK Sangameshwar and others were present.

Vizhinjam violence: Cases booked against 3k

Forensic experts examine a damaged police jeep in Vizhinjam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

A day after anti-seaport agitators let lose a reign of terror in Vizhinjam, an all-party meeting on Monday condemned the violence and demanded resumption of work at the project site. The meeting failed to reach a consensus. The Latin Church, that spearheads the agitation, however, remained unrepentant and claimed the violence was only a natural response to provocations scripted by the government. It asserted that the protest will continue.

Meanwhile, cases have been registered against 3,000 people, including women and children, in connection with Sunday's attack on the police station that left 38 personnel injured. Four of the five men detained in connection with Saturday's violence were released on station bail after a meeting between police and Church leaders. The remaining one, named Shelton, was remanded to judicial custody.

"Leaders of all political parties and communities demanded that peace be restored. We also have said the project shall not be stopped at this stage and works should resume. I hope the Church will understand the spirit of the meeting and act accordingly," said Food and Civil Supplies Minister G R Anil.

Though many participants at the meeting called for imposition of prohibitory order under section 144 of the IPC in Vizhinjam, City Police Commissioner G Sparjan Kumar said further action depends on how the situation emerges.

An eerie calm prevailed in Vizhinjam on Monday. Security have been beefed up in the area, and more personnel from the armed battalion and other districts have been deployed. The protestors tried to block road with boats, but no untoward incident was reported.

K'TAKA GETS SNAKE RESCUE GUIDELINES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TO tackle increasing incidents of human-snake conflicts and ensure that snakes are rescued in a prescribed scientific manner, the Karnataka Forest Department on Monday released the state's first operational manual for snake rescuers. Only Kerala, Gujarat and Maharashtra have their own guidelines for snake rescue.

The 'Effective Human-Snake Conflict Management and Mitigation-An Operation Manual for Certified Snake Rescuers' was drafted by noted herpetologist Romulus Whitaker, herpetologist and The Liana Trust founder-trustee Gerard Martin and Humane Society International/India senior manager Sumanth Bindumadhav. According to officials, while five certified snake rescuers in Bengaluru, there are none in the rest of the state, even as over 100 rescuers are on the job.

Bindumadhav said with many snake rescues happening, it has been noted that there were instances of rescuers suffering snake bites. Also many rescuers are not aware of where and how to release the snakes caught. "The guidelines will help in this. The rescuers will also be trained and certified by the Forest Department. A system will be set in place for citizens to search for names and numbers of certified rescuers online," he said.

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) Vijaykumar Gogi said recognizing, validating and certifying rescuers will be implemented systematically.

Croc found dead with plastic inside stomach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kendrapara

The carcass of a giant 17-feet-long saltwater crocodile was recovered from Hansua river near Bhitarkanika National Park with plastic trash inside its stomach on Sunday evening.

The male crocodile was found near Bijulia village. Range officer of Bhitarkanika Manas Das said on being informed, forest personnel rushed to the village and retrieved the crocodile carcass floating in the river. The carcass was sent to the veterinary hospital at Rajnagar for autopsy. The veterinarians found plastic and polythene trash along with a dog's carcass inside the dead crocodile's stomach.

"After getting the autopsy report, we will know the exact reason behind the reptile's death," said Das. Saltwater crocodiles are covered under the Schedule I of Indian Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972.

CMO TELLS FOREST DEPT NOT TO SEND PROMOTION, TRANSFER FILES

Bengaluru: The Chief Minister's Office has ordered the additional chief secretary of the Forest, Ecology and Environment Department not to send any files for promotion and transfer to the CMO. A Forest Department official said the Order was issued to reduce the number of files. "Many are seeking transfers as retirements are happening, the election season is nearing and cases of conflicts are also on the rise. To ensure that staffers stay on the post for longer period and reduce files piling up at the CMO, the orders have been issued," the official said. ENS

Five ports in Uttara Kannada district to be desilted, says minister

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Karwar

UTTARA Kannada district administration has said that it will begin dredging of five fishing harbours and estuaries where sand has accumulated, causing boat accidents. This has been in accordance with the long-time demand by the fishermen who are facing difficulty carrying out regular fishing activities.

After a meeting with the government officials of various departments, the District Minister Kota Srinivasa Poojary has said that the accumulation of sand in all the five ports and three more in other neighbouring districts will be cleared by means of dredging.

"Desilting will be done at Tadadi, Bhatkal, Honnavar, Karwar and Amdhalli, so that there won't be any problem to the fishing here," he said.

Surprisingly, the fishermen are not at all optimistic about it. "We are hearing about desilting of harbours for the last one decade. It has to be done as soon as possible," said Nagendra Kharvi, a fisherman and a social worker.

TRACK QUEEN USHA TO HEAD IOA, BALL NOW IN ATHLETES' COURT

At first glance, the nominations for the IOA Executive Committee (EC) elections throw up two interesting facts. There is none from the previous executive committee, and sportspersons comprise nearly half the EC. Athletics legend P T Usha is set to be the IOA president after the election process ends on December 10. Six other sportspersons are on the 15-member panel. They are London Olympic medallist shooter Gagan Narang (vice president), All India Football Federation chief Kalyan Chaubey (joint secretary), two Sportspersons of Merit, London Olympic medallist Yogeshwar Dutt and archer Dola Banerjee, and two Athletes' Representatives—London Olympic medallist M C Mary Kom and Asian and Commonwealth Games medallist paddler Sharath Kamal.

No matter who else is on the panel, the athletes and their administrative acumen will always be under scrutiny. If the amended constitution wanted to cleanse the IOA, it did have its effect. It managed to keep away all members above 70 years of age and did not allow some bigwigs, who had been part of the IOA for decades in some form or the other, to enter the EC and wrest control. Going by the list, it's pretty evident that no faction, including the one backed by secretary general Rajeev Mehta, found a place in the new EC. As a result, sportspersons will have more say in the day-to-day functioning of the IOA.

Like they say, with power comes great responsibility. Not just the sports fraternity but the entire nation will closely follow every move our sports icons make. The IOA is the umbrella organisation of all sports, particularly those part of the Olympics, Asian and Commonwealth Games. It has a huge responsibility in supporting athletes and promoting sports too. The IOA Usha will inherit is a fissured and highly politicised body. There are multiple factions and a host of litigations, while the 2024 Paris Olympics is barely one-and-a-half years away.

There are indications that the government and the sports ministry could play an active role, but the onus will be on Usha and company to keep the noisy house in order. The NSFs and old IOA members will not sit quiet, nor will the disgruntled state units, whose voting rights were snatched away. It's up to Usha and her team to overcome all odds like they did many times in their career and bring sanity to the IOA.

TRUTH IS THE VICTIM IN ODISHA BYPOLL CAMPAIGN

Bypolls generate little interest in Odisha except for the war of words among the political parties and the grand promises they make during the campaigns. However, Dhamnagar, which was reclaimed by Bharatiya Janata Party earlier this month, seems to have changed the game, and now the poll-bound Padampur assembly segment is generating heat. The ruling Biju Janata Dal and its primary opponent BJP have been at each other's throats over several issues, the latest being the railway link to the region. The BJD government has trained its gun on the Centre for sitting on Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik's request to reconsider the shelved proposal of the Bargarh-Nuapada line, which links Padampur. It has also been critical of the BJP accusing it of misleading people over the project's sanction status. Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw duly returned the potshots by saying his ministry would start the project work tomorrow if the land was sanctioned today.

It all started over the farmers' agitation in the region over crop insurance under Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY). BJP escalated the matter by targeting the BJD government for choosing a private insurance company over PSUs, while the latter hit back, stating the insurer was empanelled by the Centre. Ever since then, the issue has refused to die down, with both sides accusing each other of peddling lies. Two Union ministers, Dharmendra Pradhan and Narendra Singh Tomar, weighed in, attracting more volleys from BJD. The ruling party lobbed the ball into BJP's court, stating that PMFBY is a Central scheme and the BJP should own responsibility. Tomar even went on to say the compensation amount is with the state.

Truth be told, the parties have yet to come up with clear facts, barring flashing an occasional document in both issues crucial to the poll. It has been mostly about "your words against mine". Though the farmer's crop insurance disputes went through multiple technical advisory committees at both state and national levels, there is no clarity on why it has been stuck for over a year, and no side would come clean. Same with the railway line project. But that's how elections pan out in India, where words sometimes mean very little, and fact is sacrificed at the altar of political gimmickry. But political parties would do well not to forget that the very people who vote them to power deserve the truth more than anything else.

QUICK TAKE

RAISE THE CYBER GUARD

India is coming to terms with the reality of cyberterrorism. The recent malware attack on the computer network of the country's premier health institute, AIIMS, is shocking. The servers hold confidential health data of prominent personalities. Hackers accessing it is worrisome. The national cyber security plan must roll out at once. Resilient networks must secure sensitive digital infrastructure across sectors. The military command systems similarly need alternate pathways for their security. India can seek assistance from the QUAD, which agreed this September to help its members face malicious cyber activity, including ransomware. The age of internet governance is upon us.

There is no doubt that the matter is complex, made even worse by the presence of Chinese strategic interests

INDIA'S INTENT ON PoK: THE ISI RUNS SCARED

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University

SOUMYADIP SINHA

In recent days statements seem to be emanating from important functionaries of India's defence and security sector about its intent of wresting Pakistan Occupied Kashmir (PoK) from Pakistan under the authority of the February 22, 1994 Parliamentary Resolution passed jointly by both houses of India's Parliament. Jingoism has emerged in the public domain with inadequate information on what this is all about. The common general refrain is about the question: When will the Indian Armed Forces physically clamber onto the mountains around Muzaffarabad, Gilgit, Skardu or Dhansam to close the chapter on Pakistan's (and China's) occupation of J&K?

The cat was set among the pigeons by the Northern Army Commander's recent statement alluding to taking back PoK. He stated, "As far as the Indian Army is concerned, it will carry out any order given by the Government of India. We are always ready for it." Let us get the context and the explanation right lest impractical expectations are given weight.

PoK is a generic term used for all the territories of the former Maharaja of J&K, which are currently under the occupation of Pakistan. These include Jammu, Kashmir and the Gilgit-Baltistan (GB) region and familiar areas such as Kotli and Rawalakot (Jammu region), Muzaffarabad in the Jhelum Valley and Gilgit fall under these. It would be appropriate to recall the blue and yellow (gold) map of J&K released on October 31, 2019, shortly after the announcement of the amendment of Article 370 which took away J&K's special status and split the erstwhile state into the two separate union territories of Ladakh and Jammu & Kashmir. Ladakh in blue includes Aksai Chin, partially under Chinese occupation, and GB, under the occupation of Pakistan. J&K, in yellow or gold, is the area of the current UT of J&K under the occupation of Pakistan. This cartographic symbolism was never attempted before. On February 22, 1994, while India was under intense pressure from the international community triggered by Pakistan's false propaganda against human rights violations by the Indian Army, a little-known action by the Indian Parliament took place. All political parties came together, and in a display of national consensus, both Houses passed a Joint Resolution emphasising that J&K was an integral part of India and that Pakistan must vacate those parts of the State under its occupation. Many claim that this was the most appropriate moment to have amended Article 370 and adequately convey the message of full and final integration of J&K. Yet, what needed to happen finally did on August 5, 2019. As a result, Pakistan's long standing aggression on J&K, the long years of the sponsored proxy war and the casualties suffered by the Indian people and our troops, all combined to trigger the sentiment among the Indian public to immediately undertake military operations to take back and integrate all those territories of J&K not under India's control.

The reality is that while the bold legislation of August 5, 2019 and the symbolic cartographic action that followed have no major physical impact except some change in administrative structures, the return of territories under occupation of India's adversaries, by force or otherwise, has a far greater dimension to it, probably inadequately realised. There can be arguments against this line of thinking, but the saner elements will probably sit back and contemplate the implications of India's potential options, which of course can look at the entire conflict spectrum rather than just the employment of unbridled violence to achieve the aim.

There is no doubt that the matter is complex, made even worse by the presence of Chinese strategic interests involving the Belt and Road Initiative through both GB and PoK. Yet the public view seems to veer towards the general weakness of Pakistan today as a nation which is internally imploding with a failing economy and perceives this as the appropriate moment to use military means to wrest PoK. What the Northern Army Commander implied in his statement was the fact that the Indian Army would be ready to adopt even this option if called upon to do so. It is the unsaid part of the statement which is more significant; that India, as a responsible State and a respected part of the international community, knows how to calibrate its interests, analyse the impact of its actions and act in the larger interest of the world rather than just its own. Yet, it could protect its close interests with timely decisions and actions if needed. The series of statements on India's intent on PoK that we are hearing from the political community and now from military professionals is a part of something considered India's major weakness and is now being addressed in a calibrated way: the missing communication strategy.

Everyone is asking whether it is practical to achieve what is being demanded from the Indian Army and the Air Force. Firstly, Pakistan perceives Indian threats to PoK as existential, and a conflict to militarily wrest PoK cannot be restricted to the mountainous tracts of J&K; it is bound to spread and conflagrate into a general war with a nuclear overhang.

Secondly, it could well expand into a two-front war, contingent upon China's then-prevailing perceptions. The international community is wary of this region's potential to trigger larger confrontations that could also spread into the maritime zone and the feasibility of transnational, ideologically driven Islamic mercenaries who could possibly initiate unpredictable turbulence.

Thirdly, India's current challenges are related more to the economic, energy, science, and technology domains to help alleviate poverty and lift at least half a billion people out of poverty, just like China did with its 750 million people who were once below the poverty line. Any actions at the border must bear guarantees of complete success; else, it can all wait. India has consciously decided to place Pakistan on notice that the return of the PoK is on India's agenda and has moved up several notches in our priorities. I can assure the Indian public that the Indian Army may often be accused of being obsessed with counter-insurgency and counter-terrorism-related issues linked to a proxy war. However, conventional operations are what its real professional responsibility is. It is constantly preparing for that come hell or high water and will deliver when called to do so. Pakistan's current response does not really matter.

INDIAN POLITICS AND EMOTIONALISM

KAJAL BASU

Veteran journalist

The (mis)use of collective emotion vs public reason in the run-up to elections is rife. Political parties routinely play them against each other, and this cynicality equally often leads to the privileging of irrationality over acumen. This often-subliminal impairing of the public mind becomes increasingly conspicuous and blatant the closer one gets to the elections. In the background are political strategists calculating which emotional triggers—fear, anger, yearning, hope—will best serve the consolidation or expansion of their party.

As Andrew Beatty said in his Emotional Worlds: Beyond an Anthropology of Emotion, feelings are "not merely reactive or motivating, but orientating and informing"—or, by extension, misorientating and misinforming.

This mindgame is unfolding as we speak. Not that the reason vs emotion dynamic is a newfangled one: while it was not a defining feature of the Nehruvian years when the country was busy pulling itself up by its bootstraps, Indira Gandhi was too wily to not exploit a psychological electoral rift that had been tailor-made for democracies in and by the US.

This dynamic went on to characterise her long years in power. Mrs Gandhi was voted out by an unexpected overspilling of popular logic against the anti-democratic desolation of her Emergency. What had led her to hold the elections, in the first place, was, according to her coterie, her misbelief that she would win through a popular mandate: emotionalism.

Over the past few decades, emotionalism has been engineered to become the primum mobile of Indian electoral behaviour. Facts playing second fiddle is a corollary of the near-unstoppable declivity of Aristotelian reason.

Take the controversy centred on multi-portfolio minister Satyendar Jain who, while lodged in Tihar jail as an undertrial after being chargesheeted with money laundering, was caught on CCTV receiving a post-surgery foot-and-head massage by not a physiotherapist but a prisoner. The BJP, aiming to retain both Gujarat against an AAP incursion and the Delhi municipal corporations, wants voters to react with emotive consternation to a cabinet minister receiving a massage from an untrained malishiya, Rinku, chargesheeted for statutory rape under POCSO. Both these jailbirds are undertrials: they have not yet been convicted.

How rational is this discomposure? First, the classist commandeering of haute confort is commonplace in India's jails: the rich, the political, and the powerful have always managed their luxuries—mobile phones, home food, hot water, fat mattresses, duvets. Second, none of the jail manuals in play—the Delhi Jail Manual, or the Delhi Jail Manual, 2018, or the Delhi Prisons Act, 2000, or even the Model Prison Manual drawn up by the Bureau of Police Research and Development (BPRD) in 2016 to bring incarceration in line with international standards—is unambiguous about prisoners fraternising.

FILE PIC

> Over the past few decades, emotionalism has been engineered to become the primum mobile of Indian electoral behaviour. Facts playing second fiddle is a corollary of the near-unstoppable declivity of Aristotelian reason

Going by the Model Prison Manual, Rinku could be guilty of "Performing any portion of the task allotted to another prisoner", and Jain of "obtaining unauthorised assistance of another prisoner in the performance of one's own task".

Was Jain informed, as he should have been, of CCTV surveillance in his cell? Second, is it possible that he took the permission of the medical officer for his massage? Third, doesn't the mere act of videoing Jain constitute a defiance of the fundamental Right to Privacy—vide Justice K S Puttaswamy (Retd) vs Union of India (2018)—under Part III of the Indian Constitution? On the face of it, installing security cameras in cells violates the basic principle of not only Article 21, but also of Article 14 (Right to Equality) and Article 19 (Right to Freedom).

The BJP is highlighting that Jain's food included fruits and nuts. Neither is part of the prison diet—but an undertrial can arrange for "outside food". Jain's non-prison clothing has also become a media issue—notwithstanding that undertrials are allowed "usual private clothing".

Buried by this deliberately overheated mess is a rational fear of every Delhiite (indeed, every Indian): rampaging, deathly pollution, which, peaking at wintertime, should have preoccupied political psycho-engineering. But politicians seem to have realised that the resolution of megalopolitan pollution depends upon the goodwill of a neighbouring state where stubble-burning is a hideously complex agronomic omnishambles unlikely to be rectified for at least a decade.

Meanwhile, another long opera is being played out in the Bharat Jodo Yatra. Rahul Gandhi said that the Great Walk was not meant to garner votes but was his personal tapasya. Difficult as it is to come to rational terms with a personal odyssey that costs hundreds of crores of rupees, its emotive intent is transparent. The yatra is hard-selling unadulterated hope—of a nation undivided by religion, caste, or class; an emotion, while lofty, that our rationally sceptical mind tells us might remain unfruited. Its value was premised on being unbroken by the schismatic exigencies of politics. But reason intruded—and Rahul bent to in-party grousing about unrealism with a campaign break in Gujarat, a state that he had initially pointedly circumvented, indicating its unimportance in his emergent schema of Congress politics.

Will this parachuted intervention by Rahul help turn the tide in Gujarat for the Congress? I would be surprised if fence-sitters viewed it as a tipping point. Could it work in favour of the Congress? Only someone overburdened with weltschmerz would doubt that the yatra could glue together a lately sundered Congress. In contemporary India, the yatra is groundbreaking because it seeks to propagate honesty and altruism as political forces.

The truth, however, is that the first is a reasonable doubt; the second is pure belief. One begs analysis; the other, faith. But we are able, as humans, to juggle the two sides of a dichotomy without being undone by erratic legerdemain that often ends in our dropping the ball of nous.

And so has it come to pass: we are becoming slaves to electoral unreason.

China's Covid policy

China seems to be walking the wrong path in tackling the coronavirus pandemic. The continuing zero-Covid policy has not been effective in containing the disease. Although few other countries have worked through the pandemic, China is still adhering to a policy that is earning people's ire. It should review the situation and correct its course of action.

Dr D V G Sankararao, Vizianagaram

Protests have other meanings

The mass demonstrations against China's zero-Covid measures come as a test for the leadership, especially Xi Jinping. The demonstrations are not just about Covid restrictions, but about democracy, freedom and change of political system. The leadership should handle the growing frustration at the Covid strategy wisely and sensitively.

A lot of fishing

Apropos of The Avadhuta's advice and the rolling sea (Nov 28). I felt the columnist has unnecessarily elaborated on fishing. It could have been brief. The subsequent flow on Pingala's narration was good. I suggest that the columnist could elaborate on the story about the five senses, coupled with the narration on how nature is the guru. This could spread across a couple of weeks.

Philosophy of the seas

The writer has excellently expounded a high philosophical thought in very simple terms by using the example of fishermen. In modern times, management concepts and psychological studies are in sync with the fact that power, concentration and effectiveness are concomitant with any work done for its own sake, irrespective of name, fame and wealth that may accrue as a result.

Vizhinjam agitation

Apropos of Protestors storm police station; 25 cops hurt (Nov 28). I am quite disappointed by this; our own people are unable to comprehend their neighbours. It surely sets a poor example for both our nation and people. The government must act wisely and put a stop to this infraction as soon as possible in order to restore harmony and peace.

'New Vande Bharat trains may not meet deadline'

Good scope of replacement of Shatabdi, Rajdhani, some more premium trains by Vande Bharat: Mani

Former General Manager of Integral Coach factory, Chennai and now freelance consultant on rail design and development, Sudhanshu Mani, is the man who is credited with leading the team of engineers that conceptualized and developed India's first indigenous semi-high speed train Vande Bharat. In an interview with Rajesh Kumar Thakur, Mani says that running 75 Vande Bharat trains by August 15, 2023, and 400 in next three years, as announced in the Union Budget, is a "long shot." Excerpts:

Will the railways be able to meet the deadline of running 75 VB trains by August 15, 2023?

A team of engineers from Integral Coach Factory (ICF) and allied industry came together and conceptualized it. After long and hard work, they delivered a superfast train, Train-18, which is now called 'Vande Bharat.' This 'made in India' train came up in just 18 months. It is a record in itself, both in terms of time and cost, on its designing and development. Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced on August 15 in 2021 that 75 such trains would run across the country in 75 weeks. In the Union budget, the finance minister also announced that 400 Vande Bharat trains would be running in India in the next three years. Our team is fully dedicated to meeting these deadlines. The common refrain in railway and industrial circles has been that the government had overreached. I view it a bit differently. It may not be possible to deliver these many Vande Bharat trains within the announced deadline. But it is doable in the next six years. So, while 75 trains by August 15, 2023 or 400 in the next three years is a long shot, what is important is there is good movement and energy devoted towards more and more Vande Bharat trains.

Verbatim

How did the idea to design and develop Vande Bharat emerge?

India needed an indigenously developed modern train for decades. The bureaucracy had repeatedly let the country down. It remained immersed in internecine battles and import obsession. I asked for, and got the posting as General Manager of Integral Coach Factory (ICF) in 2016, unlike others who opt for a bigger zonal railway posting. I had a vision to build a modern and fast train, with pleasing interiors and exteriors, designed and manufactured in India. I soon realized that the officers and staff of ICF had the right capability and the flair to take up such a project.

I had completed 35 years as a railway officer, including a stint in Germany in the Embassy of India as the Minister (Railways). So, I had the dream, the vision, the opportunity and the good fortune of having a great team, raring to go.

Do you think running 400 Vande Bharats will add a good quantum of revenue in railway's overall earnings?

That is a tough one to predict. Vande Bharat trains have so far been successful commercially, with full occupation, as the travelling public is willing to pay higher fares for the shorter travel time and superior amenities. However, is there a market for 400 such trains? There is certainly a good scope of replacement of Shatabdi, Rajdhani and some more premium trains by Vande Bharat, say, in the range of 100-150 trains. Proliferation beyond that would depend a lot on choice of routes and timing. Travellers will have to weaned away from road and air. To me it appears difficult at this stage but not impossible. It would need great planning and strategy.

Since you led the team to develop this train, what do you think the Railways should have done to facilitate introduction of high-speed trains?

Three very important things, which should have been taken up with the proliferation of Vande Bharat trains: The first is the upgrade of tracks to handle 160 kmph speed. But the work on even the Delhi-Mumbai and Delhi-Howrah sections, which were sanctioned in 2017, proceeded rather slowly. The second is that I had started work on sleeper version of Vande Bharat in 2018. The prototype should have been here by now, but the work was abandoned. Even if they restart the work now, a sleeper version is possible only by mid-2023.

> It may not be possible to deliver new Vande Bharat trains within the announced deadline. But it is doable in the next six years.
> Sudhanshu Mani, Freelance consultant on rail design and development

Third, the Railways has finalized a plan to set up depots for maintenance at 15 stations on the possible 28 routes of Shatabadi and other intercity trains. We need a robust plan to run these trains in large numbers with proper maintenance facilities and training of staff.

A tender for testing Vande Bharat for running at 220 kmph has been floated. The Railways has no such tracks for testing, let alone operation. This would unnecessarily result in a design which would not be utilised at the intended speed and the Railways would end up paying more for something which may not come in use for at least a decade.

Even after trial tests, some technical snags were recently reported in the operation of Vande Bharat trains. Why is it happening?

This is not correct. The only technical snag occurred on the first rake of the train due to failure in traction motor bearing recently, nearly four years after the rake was inducted. That is an excellent reliability record. This is in spite of the train having been pushed into commercial service without the mandatory field trial in an inferior service. Otherwise, there have been cases of cattle being run over for which the train cannot be blamed. The train has been designed for 160kmph operation on fenced tracks and it is not a fault of the design, if the infrastructure has not kept pace with developments of trains.

Intranasal vaccine iNCOVACC gets restricted use nod

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

INDIA'S first nasal Covid vaccine iNCOVACC has received approval from the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO) under restricted use in an emergency for ages 18 and above, in India, for heterologous booster doses; Bharat Biotech announced on Monday.

The Hyderabad-based pharma company said that the intranasal vaccine, BBV154 or iNCOVACC is a recombinant replication-deficient adenovirus vectored vaccine with a prefusion stabilised SARS-CoV-2 spike protein.

This vaccine candidate was evaluated in phases I, II and III clinical trials with successful results, the company claimed.

iNCOVACC has explicitly been formulated to allow intranasal delivery through nasal drops.

The nasal delivery system has been designed and developed to be cost-effective in low- and middle-income countries.

The intranasal vaccine was developed in partnership with Washington University, St. Louis, which had designed and developed the recombinant adenoviral vector construct and evaluated it in preclinical studies for efficacy.

The product development related to preclinical safety evaluation, large-scale manufacturing scale-up, formulation and delivery device development, including human clinical trials, were conducted by Bharat Biotech.

The Indian government partly funded product development and clinical trials through the Department of Biotechnology (DBT)'s Covid Suraksha Program.

Dr Rajesh S. Gokhale, Secretary, DBT, and Chairperson, Biotechnology Industry Research Assistance Council (BIRAC), said the DCGI's approval of Bharat Biotech's intranasal vaccine iNCOVACC to be used as a heterologous booster dose against currently available Covid-19 vaccines is a moment of great pride for our country.

Doval, Indonesia minister to address ulema meeting

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

NATIONAL Security Adviser Ajit Doval and Indonesian security affairs minister Mohammed Mahfud Mahmodin on Tuesday will address a meeting of ulema, or Muslim scholars, convened to focus on countering radicalisation and extremism. The Indonesian leader, known as Mahfud MD, will attend this and other meetings which includes talks on security cooperation with Doval. Mahfud MD is expected to meet the External Affairs Minister, Dr S Jaishankar, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Mahfud MD, who holds the official position of coordinating minister for political, legal and security affairs, is heading a 25-member delegation that includes senior Muslim scholars of Indonesia and representatives of other faiths such as Catholicism and Hinduism.

The day-long dialogue on the role of ulema in fostering interfaith peace and social harmony in India and Indonesia is being hosted by the India Islamic Cultural Centre in line with a proposal made by Mahfud MD when Doval visited Jakarta in March for the second bilateral security dialogue.

Countering radicalisation is a shared concern for India and Indonesia and when the ulema meet on Tuesday, the focus will be on creating common grounds and narratives that can benefit both countries. Both sides also have an interest in presenting the "softer and peaceful" face of Islam, the people said.

Doval will deliver the opening address at the meeting and Mahfud MD will give the keynote address. They will also speak at the concluding session. The ulema will participate in three closed sessions on the themes 'Islam: Continuity and change', 'Harmonising interfaith society' and 'Countering radicalisation and extremism in India and Indonesia'. Besides the dialogue between the Muslim scholars, the Indonesian ulema will meet Indian leaders of other faiths. The dialogue intends to bring together scholars who can take forward cooperation to promote tolerance and peaceful co-existence and counter violent extremism, the people said.

Koshyari ready to quit over Shivaji remarks: BJP leaders

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE speculations are rife that Maharashtra governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari will be removed or he himelf will step down after the controversy erupted over his "controversial and defamatory" remarks against Chhatapati Shivaji Maharaj. He made the objectionable remarks on November 18.

On Monday, a senior BJP leader said that Koshyari has himelf expressed his desire to step down from the governor post.

Sources said that the governor may write to the President of India requesting to relieve him from the governor post with immediate effect. "In the personal meeting with senior BJP leaders, Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari expressed his desire to step down. He no longer wants to stay back in the governor chair as there is demand for his removal from every quarter of the society. Once this is finalised, it will be conveyed officially," said a senior BJP leader, requesting anonymity.

However, the Governor Office denied the report of Koshyari stepping down.

GUV'S 'LOOSE TONGUE'

November 18: During a convocation speech, Maharashtra governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari stirred the controversy saying Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj is an icon of the old era while Union minister Nitin Gadkari is a modern day idol

July 29: Koshyari in his earlier controversial statement undermined the effort of Marathi manoos. He said Mumbai and Thane will be left with no money and cease to be a "financial capital" if members of the Gujarati and Rajasthani communities are "removed" from the state

February 14: Koshyari had also mocked the 19 th century social reformers Savitribai and Jyotirao Phule for "getting married at a young age. Savitribai was married off when she was ten years old... and her husband (Jyotirao) was 13 years old. Now imagine, what would the boy and girl have been doing after marriage? What would they have been thinking?"

The Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) welcomed the decision of Koshyari stepping down from the governor post. The party said that it is a good thing that the governor expressed his desire to step down. "This is the effect of our call for the Maharashtra bandh against Koshyari's remark on Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj," a senior party leader said.

Koshyari was in Delhi for a two days tour.

Sources said that during his Delhi tour, he met a couple of senior BJP leaders where he himself expressed the desire to step down.

"BJP top leadership wants to gauge the public mood whether removing incumbent Maharashtra governor will send the right message or will it benefit the Opposition in the state. The decision on this is likely to be taken after the Gujarat elections," source added.

Canada calls India a crucial Pacific partner

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

CANADA has called India a crucial partner in the Indo-Pacific and it says the Indo-Pacific will play a significant role in its future. The references have been made in a document on the Indo-Pacific document released by Canada on Monday.

Mélanie Joly, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Canada, released the Indo-Pacific Strategy document. "This strategy presents a comprehensive roadmap to deepen our engagement in the Indo-Pacific over the next decade, increasing our contributions to regional peace and security, strengthening economic growth and resilience, enhancing our significant people-to-people ties, and supporting sustainable development across the region," she said.

As a Pacific nation, Canada recognises that the Indo-Pacific region will play a significant and profound role in Canada's future. Every issue that matters to Canadians-national security, economic prosperity, respect for international law and human rights, democratic values, public health, protecting our environment-will be shaped by the relationships that Canada, along with its partners, have with countries throughout the Indo-Pacific. Decisions made in the region will impact Canadians for generations, and it is critical that Canada be at the table.

Canada is looking at partnering with India across other segments, besides promoting trade, student intake, tourism and Free Trade Agreement.

Canada has also termed China as increasingly disruptive global partner.

SC seeks Centre's response in plea on giving sanitary napkins to schoolgirls

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday sought Centre and state's responses in plea to provide free sanitary napkins to girls studying from class 6th to 12th.

A bench of CJI DY Chandrachud and Justice PS Narasimha noted that the plea raised important issue of sanitation and hygiene of young female students and thus sought assistance of SG Tushar Mehta.

The plea wherein relief was also sought for provision of separate toilet in all government and residential schools argued that inadequate Menstrual Hygiene Management options were major Barrie's to eduction since many girls dropped out of school due to lack of access to sanitation facilities.

The plea highlighted lack of access to hygienic methods for females aged 11 to 16 years.

"Menstruation makes the need for safe water, sanitation and hygiene, especially, important for women. In such conditions, access to safe water, sanitation and hygiene can be a matter of life and death. According to a report published by Water Aid, illnesses related to a lack of water, basic sanitation and hygiene were responsible for the deaths of almost 800,000 women around the world in a single year making it the fifth biggest killer of women behind heart disease, stroke, lower respiratory infections and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease", the plea had stated.

Dr Jaya Thakur in the plea had also sought for three stage awareness programme for creating awareness about menstrual health, provision of sanitation facilities as well as ensuring efficient manner for sanitary waste disposal.

Tejpal plea for video proceedings junked

The SC on Monday dismissed journalist Tarun Tejpal's plea seeking in-camera proceedings in the Bombay HC on an appeal challenging his acquittal in a 2013 rape case. The becnh did not agree to submissions of advocates Kapil Sibal and Amit Desai, counsels for Tejpal.

'Lies on EVM have consequences'

The SC observed a person making a 'false statement' 'must know the consequence' as it leads to stalling the electoral process. It was hearing a plea against an election rule relating to the malfunctioning of an EVM which the petitioner claimed was unconstitutional.

Kashmir Files a propaganda movie: IFFI jury head

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE movie The Kashmir Files was called 'propaganda' by Israeli filmmaker and IFFI jury head Nadav Lepid at the closing ceremony of the 53rd International Film Festival of India on Monday.

Labelling the Vivek Agnihotri directorial "inappropriate" for artistic competitive section of "such a prestigious film festival", Nadav said at the festival's closing ceremony, "We were, all of us, disturbed and shocked by the 15th film: The Kashmir Files. That felt to us like propaganda, vulgar movie, inappropriate for an artistic competitive section of such a prestigious film festival. I feel totally comfortable to share openly these feelings here with you on stage. Since the spirit of having a festival is to accept also a critical discussion which is essential for art and for life."

The film, which was one of the highest grossers at the box office this year, was screened at the festival last week. It was released in theatres on 11 March, and revolves around the killings and exodus of Kashmiri Pandits in 1990 from the Valley. It was widely received in India but many have criticised it for its propagandist tone and singular narrative.

The film was even banned in Singapore and was assessed to be "beyond" the city-state's film classification guidelines. According to reports, the Singaporean authorities refused the classification of the Hindi-language film for "its provocative and one-sided portrayal of Muslims and the depictions of Hindus being persecuted in the on-going conflict in Kashmir".

In the same event, Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting Anurag Thakur on Monday said that International Films Festival of India (IFFI) opened up a nuanced world of cinema for audiences across the region, the young and old, new and festival veterans. "IFFI not only entertained but also educated us. IFFI tickled our humour and refined their senses," said the minister at the closing ceremony of the nine-day long festival.

Over the last nine days, IFFI curated the screenings of 282 films, clocking 3,500 minutes of viewing time. The festival featured 183 international films and 97 Indian films in 65 international and 15 Indian languages from 78 countries worldwide.

The minister added that the diversity showcased at the festival is the living embodiment of 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' that brought together creative thinkers, film makers, cinema lovers and cultural enthusiasts from all over the world under one roof. The Minister reiterated his commitment to give a strong emphasis to regional cinema and provide a platform for its growth.

Guj hunt for Oppn: AAP fills Cong vacuum in BJP citadel

It may be too far-fetched to see any change in the ruling party, but the state is certainly keen to have a strong alternative opposition

AMIT MUKHERJEE
@ Surat/Rajkot/Ahmedabad

AS the Land Rover of Prime Minister Narendra Modi made through the streets of Mota Varachha area of Surat on Sunday evening; accompanied by the battery of black SUVs flashing the red and blue beacons, the slogans that echoed in the backdrop may not be very pleasing to the state BJP leaders. The chant was Kejriwal!

Of course, while BJP supporters term this particular stretch and episode as an anomaly, where AAP has emerged strong in the last municipal elections of Surat, what lies behind the chants is a steady wind of change or a Parivartan. It might be too far-fetched to see a change in the ruling party of the state, but certainly this is reflective of the state's mood to have an alternate strong opposition in Gujarat.

While in the municipal elections of Surat AAP bagged 28 of the 120 seats, it also gave a result, in which, the Congress was completely wiped out from the scene. And with that, the AAP started being looked upon as an only alternative which can play the role of a constructive opposition in Gujarat.

"We have tremendous respect for PM Narendra Modi and the way he is leading India in the world stage, but it's important to have a stable government in the state with a strong constructive opposition in the interest of a healthy democratic set up," said Kantilal Sohagia, who runs an agency, Uniglobe, that provides immigration and visa solutions to students and aspirants of Gujarat eyeing overseas opportunities.

BJP supporters at a rally in Kheda district | PTI

Sohagiya strongly believes that Gujarat now sees an able opposition in AAP for which the BJP leadership at least realised the need to sack an incompetent state government and take corrective actions in recent past. Even Divyesh Dabhi a young entrepreneur and a resident of Rajkot-South says that in the Saurashtra region in view of Congress' inability and non-performance, people were being taken for granted by the state government. "But now it is clear that the BJP is taking the elections and the needs of the people seriously."

It is a fact, that while corrective measures have been adopted the BJP is heavily banking on the good will and popularity of just one man. Narendra Modi.

It is evident that the extra efforts that are being put in by the BJP; with the PM and other national leaders making multiple trips, "is surely not because of Congress' resurrection as formidable force, but the emergence of AAP as a credible face of opposition in the state," says the member of an eminent family of Ahmedabad.

Another AAP candidate pulls out of poll fray

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Ahmedabad

AHEAD of polls, AAP has suffered another setback as Vasant Valjibhai Khetani, the candidate from Abdasa assembly of Kutch district, joined BJP.

Earlier in Surat East, Kanchan Jariwala had withdrawn his nomination. AAP Kutch district committee president Rohit Gaur said that party candidate Vasantbhai was not reachable since Sunday evening. He alleged that the BJP leaders had confined Khetani somewhere in a factory.

Meanwhile, on Sunday evening, a video clip of Khetani surfaced on social media in which he was seen saying that "I am leaving the AAP and joining BJP in the interest of the nation. I am withdrawing from the election to favour a BJP candidate, and have joined the BJP."

After joining BJP, Khetani announced his support to Abdasa BJP candidate Pradyuman Singh Jadeja, Jadeja won from Abdasa seat in 2017 on Congress ticket, but in 2020 Jadeja joined BJP.

Last-minute push: Parties slog it out, trade charges ahead of Phase 1 voting

CAMPAIGNING for the Gujarat Assembly elections is raising political temperatures with each passing day. On Monday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge took swipes at each other, while AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal attacked both.

During a road show, an unidentified person threw a stone at Kejriwal while he was campaigning in Surat in an open vehicle.

Modi addressed a rally at Anjar in Kutch, where he slammed the Congress over its failure to curb terror during its rule. "Illiteracy and malnutrition had become the misfortune of villages," he said. "When Gujarat trusted the BJP, things started changing. BJP made safe Gujarat its priority."

Modi also criticised the Congress, saying it colluded with those who opposed bringing water to Kutch. "The Congress has always been encouraging those who opposed the Sardar Sarovar Dam. The people of Kutch can never forget a party that created hurdles for the people of Kutch," he said. The PM also addressed poll rallies at Palitana in Bhavnagar, Jamnagar and Rajkot.

Meanwhile, Kharge targeted Modi, saying, "The BJP's national leaders are roaming from ward to ward, giving provocative speeches while misleading people. There must be fear behind that," he said.

Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma also took a jibe at the Congress. "Mallikarjun Kharge said, no one has tea with me. So maybe Congress follows such practices.

Rahul Gandhi should tweet a backdated picture where he can be seen having tea with Mallikarjun Kharge," he said, adding, "I feel that dogs have a higher value in the Congress than humans."

Is BJP chief CR Patil on a secret mission?

Gujarat's state president Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) CR Patil is a point of discussion in Gujarat assembly elections these days. Before the assembly elections were announced, he used to be very active, but as soon as the elections were announced, he started disappearing. For the past few days, there is a discussion in Gujarat that Patil is missing from campaigning for the first phase of polling, even though he is doing minimal campaigning in his home region South Gujarat. If sources are to be believed, Patil is engaged in behind-the-scenes arrangements instead of campaigning.

PM on a mission to woo Patidars in Surat

South Gujarat is considered a stronghold of the BJP, but due to the Patidar movement, earlier the Congress and now the Aam Aadmi Party are trying to snatch this stronghold from the BJP. This time AAP's entire focus is on Surat. The party has fielded its party president Gopal Italiya from Katargam seat and state general secretary Manoj Sorathiya from Karjan seat from Surat. It is a clear indication that the AAP party is eyeing the BJP's Patidar vote bank of Surat. Sources are claiming that Prime Minister Modi held a meeting with Patidar leaders and diamond industrialists in Surat on Sunday.

Former minister, BJP leader joins Congress

Former Gujarat health minister minister Jay Narayan Vyas, who resigned from BJP on November 5, joined the Congress on Monday. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge inducted the 75-year-old minister into the party at Congress headquarters in Ahmedabad. Vyas was a minister in the BJP government in Gujarat when Narendra Modi was the chief minister. Vays was with BJP for more than 30 years and he was not happy with state party leadership for long, he also wrote in a sarcastic way many times against the BJP's local leadership.

CAA will be implemented soon: Minister

PRANAB MANDAL @ Kolkata

UNION Minister of State (Home) Nisith Pramanik on Monday said that the Citizenship Amendment Act would be implemented in the state soon.

"The Hindu refugees, known as Matuas, from Bangladesh are being tortured by the ruling Trinamool Congress in the state. They are being framed with false charges. The CAA was brought to give them citizenship. The Act will soon be implemented across India and West Bengal, soon," said Pramanikm while addressing a rally at Mathabhanga, Cooch Behar, north Bengal.

On Sunday, leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari said the same while addressing a rally organised at Thakurnagar, Bongaon, which is the headquarters of Matuas.

The TMC rubbished Pramanik's claim. "The BJP is trying to divide Bengal and hoodwinking the refugees by showing CAA as a carrot. Their plan will not be successful as the Mutas are already citizens of India and they have been participating in electoral exercises for the past several decades," said a TMC leader.

Jolt to BJP in local body polls, Independents win most seats

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE outcome of the Haryana Zila Parishad elections has come as a wake-up call for the BJP ahead of the 2024 Assembly polls. The party has won only 22 of the 102 seats it contested, while the AAP bagged 15 and the Indian National Lok Dal (INLD) got 12 seats.

The Congress and the BJP's ally, Jannayak Janata Party, did not contest these elections on their party symbols. The focus is now on the over 350 Independent candidates who have won from the 411 Zila Parishad wards. Both the BJP and the Congress claim to have a majority among the Independents.

The results were declared late Sunday evening. The BJP did not win a single seat in Sirsa out of the 10 it contested. The same scenario was seen in Panchkula. In Ambala, the home district of state home and health minister Anil Vij, the party could win only two of the 15 seats it entered the fray in. Suman Saini, the wife of Kurukshetra MP Nayab Singh Saini, was defeated from ward number 4 of Ambala. In Gurugram, the BJP won four out of 10 Zila Parishad seats, while in Karnal, the home district of Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar, out of the 25 seats, one each was won by the BSP and INLD and the rest were bagged by Independents. Kaithal also saw a dominance of Independent candidates, who won 20 out of 21 seats, with AAP grabbing one ward. However, in Yamunanagar, Nuh and Kurukshetra, the BJP won six, seven and three seats, respectively.

Haryana BJP spokesperson Sanjay Sharma held that the party has performed well. He added that the party supported 151 candidates who won in 15 districts, while a majority of 126 Independent winners are supporting the BJP. Therefore, out of the total 411 members in 22 Zila Parishads, the BJP has the backing of around 300 winning candidates. Meanwhile, AAP won six seats in Sirsa and three each in Jind and Ambala. AAP MP and party's Haryana in-charge Sushil Gupta said the results show that the future belongs to the Aam Aadmi Party. According to political experts, the performance will act as a boost for AAP for the Assembly polls. For INLD, the big win came from Sirsa, where it got 10 seats. INLD leader and Ellenabad legislator Abhay Chautala's son Karan Chautala won from ward number 6 in Sirsa by over 600 votes.

Independent candidates bagged a majority of seats in several districts, including Jhajjar, Hisar, Rewari and Rohtak.

Mehbooba vacates Gupkar residence, moves to sister's home

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

NEARLY a month after being served eviction notice by authorities, PDP chief and former Jammu and Kashmir chief minister Mehbooba Mufti on Monday vacated her Fairview residence at highly-secured Gupkar Road in Srinagar and moved to her sister's residence in the Srinagar outskirts.

PDP spokesperson Najam-Us-Saqib said that Mehbooba vacated her Gupkar residence on Monday. The Estates Department had sent a notice to PDP chief on October 15 asking her to vacate the "Fair View Guest House" at Gupkar by or before November 15.

Saqib said Mehbooba took all her belongings from the Gupkar residence and possession of the Fair View has been handed over to the government.

The PDP chief has moved to her sister's residence at Khimber area in the outskirts of Srinagar. The Estates Department while serving eviction notice to Mehbooba had offered her a government quarter at Tulsi Bagh area of uptown Srinagar. However, she had rejected the option and instead preferred to move to her sister's residence, where some repairs and refurbishments were carried out before her shifting there.

Fairview was the official residence of Mehbooba and her late father, Mufti Mohammad Sayeed when they were chief ministers of erstwhile J&K state. In the erstwhile J&K state, a former CM was entitled to lifelong official accommodation. However, the law that permitted former CM to occupy official residences for life was amended by the centre in 2020, a year after scrapping J&K's special status and bifurcating J&K state into two UTs.

Former CMs Omar Abdullah and Ghulam Nabi Azad had vacated their official residences in 2020. The Fairview was used as an official guest house and known as Fairview Guest House till 1989. However, after the outbreak of militancy, it was taken over by BSF and it was turned into a detention centre named Papa-II.

Bihar's newlyweds take off in copter cars

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE helicopter-shaped car has become the latest craze among bridegrooms and brides who want to add some uniqueness to their marriage ceremonies so that these events do not fade away from the people's memory so easily.

In Bihar's Kaimur district, local residents of Mohania town spent more than eight months making the chopper-shaped car. The car is fitted with overtop blades as these blades are smaller in comparison to the ones atop a helicopter. It has been aptly named, "Dulhan Chali Sasural" (bride leaves for her in-laws' house).

The vehicle has been in high demand not only in Kaimur district, which is close to Uttar Pradesh border, but also in adjoining districts like Rohtas, Aurangabad, Bhojpur and Buxar districts.

In neighbouring Rohtas district, two youngsters, Bittu Kushwaha and Dilip Kumar Singh purchased an old car and later modified it in such a way that the car looked like a helicopter.

When the car's blades start revolving, people start taking selfies with it, the residents of Kochas said on Monday. When this 'helicopter-car' first ran on the streets of Sasaram, district headquarter town of Rohtas, with sparkling lights, people captured its pictures in their mobile cameras.

In Bihar's Kaimur district, local residents of Mohania town spent more than eight months making the chopper-shaped car

The duo spent nearly ₹ 4.5 lakh for remodelling the car for ferrying brides and bridegrooms. Dilip Kumar Singh, a resident of Khaira in Rohtas district, said, "I charge ₹15,000 if the car is used in a radius of 40 km. The car is in huge demand. We are getting bookings every day during the marriage season." This trend is catching up in other districts too as in Bhagalpur district. A tent businessman Diwakar Kumar, a resident of Maheshkhunt in Khagaria, has also got a car remodelled as a helicopter. Now a groom can look forward to boarding this helicopter-like car in the marriage procession. He said people could hire the car by paying an amount of ₹11,000 for it.

Diwakar said that he got the car modelled as a helicopter after watching it on YouTube. "Har koi shadi mein kuchh naya chahta hai (everybody wants something new in a wedding)," he said.

The business is thriving in Bihar these days as the marriage season has started. "The chariot carrying grooms has now become a passe. Helicopter-shaped cars have become the latest choice of bridegrooms for their weddings," said Manoj Kumar Singh, owner of a marriage hall in Patna.

13-yr-old girl rescues minor friend from getting married in J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A 13-year old girl foiled child marriage of her friend by informing the local authorities at Koderma in Jharkhand requesting them to rescue her as she wanted to study further. After being informed by her friend, the local administration came into action and rescued the girl and took her into custody.

After the news was flashed, the Jharkhand High Court took suo-motu cognisance into the matter and directed District Legal Services Authority (DLSA) to take required action. Her statement was recorded and was admitted to Kasturba Gandhi Residential School in Koderma

According to Childline officials, the incident took place on Friday at Barsotiyavar village under Koderma police station. Her friend made a call to child helpline 1098, after which the police stepped in. The girl was handed over to the child welfare committee and later admitted to Kasturba Balika Vidyalaya on Sunday with the help of DLSA, Childline and local administration.

"The girl informed in 1098 saying that her friend, who is also a 13-year-old girl is being forcefully married but she does not want to get married and continue her studies further. She requested to rescue her for the sake of her future giving a detailed address of the girl following which the local administration was informed which came into action and rescued the girl," said director childline, Indramani Sahu.

Later, the Jharkhand High Court took cognizance of the matter and the girl was admitted to Kasturba Balika Vidyalaya in Koderma, he added.

Sahu said that the girl's parents were set to marry her off to a 22-year old youth from Giridih.

The girl, after being rescued, said that she studies in class VII in a government school, further adding that she has an elder brother who is 17 years old and a younger one who is nine. She also has a younger sister aged 12, she said.

The girl wanted to study further

According to Childline officials, the incident took place on Friday at Barsotiyavar village under Koderma police station. The 13-year old girl made a call to child helpline 1098, after which the police stepped in. The minor girl was handed over to the child welfare committee and later admitted to Kasturba Balika Vidyalaya on Sunday.

Shanghai blanketed by heavy police presence

SHANGHAI

THE flashing lights from lines of police cars blanketed the streets of Shanghai Monday night, as hundreds of officers patrolled city landmarks and the site of a weekend anti-lockdown protest that called for greater political freedoms. A deadly fire in the northwestern city of Urumqi has catalysed public anger across China, with many blaming Covid measures for hampering rescue efforts. Large crowds congregated in downtown Shanghai on Sunday where police clashed with protesters as they tried to stop groups converging at Wulumuqi street — named after the Mandarin for Urumqi.

On Monday there was a heavy police presence in the area again, and throughout the day AFP witnessed officers detaining four people, later releasing one. "The atmosphere tonight is nervy. There are so many police around," a man in his early 30s told AFP as evening fell. Giving the pseudonym "Taku", he said he had lost his job at an international airline because of the pandemic and that he thought the protests were justified.

"The rest of the world has opened up, but only China is stuck with the zero-Covid policy... This city at the moment just feels crazy."

Police cars are seen on a street in Shanghai on Monday, a day after strong protests against China's zero-Covid policy | AFP

Police were seen stopping people, with one young man telling AFP he was specifically asked if he had downloaded any foreign apps on his phone — a phenomenon widely reported by others on social media. Taku said he didn't think a protest would break out on Wulumuqi street Monday night, but was "looking forward to something happening".

He added he would not actively join in but would try to photograph arrests if they happened.

An AFP reporter counted 12 police cars within 100 metres along Wulumuqi street. On Monday, roads that had been closed the evening before were opened again, but filled with police officers.

For several blocks along and around Wulumuqi street, roads were covered with blue metal barriers, which AFP had seen being erected overnight.

A woman of about 30 who worked in a shop nearby said the barriers had affected her business. "I think the atmosphere is strange, but I don't feel unsafe," she said. "I don't expect any violence to occur."

Ten minutes' drive away, the vast People's Square appeared closed off in the evening Bars in the vicinity told AFP they had been ordered to close at 10.00 pm (local time) for "disease control". Small clusters of officers in high-vis jackets stood outside each metro exit.

Overall the atmosphere was calm, but AFP saw a group of four policemen surrounding two young men, appearing to search through their bags and check their cameras and phones before they were allowed to move on after five minutes. When asked, police said their actions were part of a "normal check" and that officers were "regularly" present in such numbers there. Agencies

RBI says credit growth remained broad-based as all population groups, bank groups recorded double-digit growth

Bank credit up 17.2% in Q2; deposits grow 9.8%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

SIGNALING an uptick in private sector investment, bank credit off-take saw a growth of 17.2% in the July-September 2022 quarter, compared with 14.2% in the previous quarter, data released by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) showed.

Credit growth in the September quarter of 2021 was at a much low 7%.

According to the RBI, credit growth remained broad-based as all population groups and bank groups recorded double digit-annual growth.

Rural areas saw credit growth of 12.7%, while urban and metropolitan regions saw 19.6% and 17.4% growth, respectively. Private sector banks have been more aggressive in pushing loan growth as they saw 21% credit growth during the quarter. Public sector banks recorded 15% credit growth.

Deposit growth remains subdued

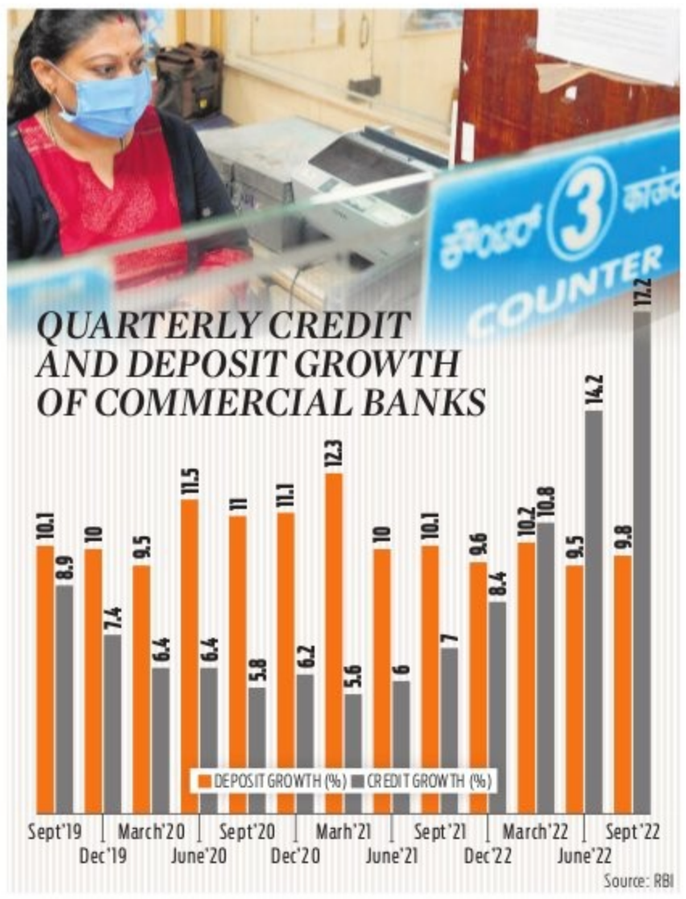
Deposit growth remained subdued. Banks saw aggregate deposit grow 9.8% in Q2. Aggregate deposit growth has remained in 9.5-10.2% range since June 2021. In Q2 FY22, banks had posted 9.5% deposit growth

Meanwhile, deposit growth remained subdued. Banks saw their aggregate deposit grow by just 9.8% in the September quarter. Aggregate deposits growth has remained in the range of 9.5-10.2% since June 2021. In the September 2021 quarter, banks had posted a deposit growth of 9.5%.

According to RBI, term deposits grew at 10.2% in the September 2022 quarter from 6.4% a year ago, whereas current and savings deposits growth moderated to 8.8% and 9.4% from 17.5% and 14.5%, respectively, a year ago.

The share of savings deposit in total deposits, which increased from 32.4% in June 2019 to a peak of 35.2% in June 2022, moderated marginally to 34.7% in the latest quarter.

Credit-deposit ratio increased further to 74.8% in the September quarter from 73.5% a quarter ago and 70% a year ago. The lagging growth in bank deposits vis-à-vis credit growth has been a cause of concern for both banks and the banking regulator. Recently, the RBI governor in a meeting with commercial bank chiefs discussed the issue of slow deposit growth.



EQUITY MARKET RALLY

Sensex may touch 80K by Dec 2023: Morgan Stanley

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INDIA'S equity market continues to hit new highs despite various global concerns, including a civil unrest in China that led to noticeable decline in key Asian markets.

Led by sharp buying in index heavyweight Reliance Industries (RIL), the 30-share Sensex ended 211 points higher at 62,504 on Thursday, while its broader peer Nifty 50 ended above the 18,550 level after touching a new all-time peak of 18,614. This rally, according to global brokerage Morgan Stanley, will continue as it expects Sensex (50% probability) to hit 68,500-mark by December 2023. In case of a Bull run (30% probability), Sensex may even hit 80,000-mark, the brokerage said.

"We assume that the effects of the Ukraine-Russia conflict (elevated commodity costs) do not spill over into 2023, domestic growth continues its strong path as per our forecasts, and the US does not slip into a protracted recession. Government policy remains supportive, and the RBI executes a calibrated exit. Sensex earnings compound 22% annually through F2025E," said analysts at Morgan Stanley while projecting Sensex at 68,500 by December 2023.

Morgan Stanley said Sensex could touch 80,000 milestone if India is included in the global bond indices, resulting in nearly $20 billion of inflows over the subsequent 12 months and commodity prices including oil and fertilizer correct sharply. Earnings growth, for this to happen, needs to compound 25% annually over F2022-25E, it said. There is also a 20% probability of a sharp correction with BSE Sensex going down to 52,000.

"Oil and other relevant commodity prices (especially fertilizers) remain elevated, and RBI ends up tightening aggressively to protect macro stability. A protracted recession in the developed world drags down India's growth. Sensex earnings compound 18% annually over F2022-25E, but equity multiples de-rate to reflect poor macro conditions," the analysts noted. Morgan Stanley's bullish view for the domestic market comes at a time when most rating agencies and financial institutions have lowered India's FY23 and FY24 gross domestic product (GDP) growth forecast, as they feel higher interest rates and slowing global trade are major headwinds.

PRE-BUDGET

Economists advise govt to revert to FRBM targets

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

IN the pre-budget meeting with finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday, economists have advised the government to revert to the fiscal responsibility and budget management (FRBM) targets, if not immediately but in the medium term.

The FRBM Act mandates the government to limit the fiscal deficit to 3%.

Currently India's fiscal deficit is at 6.4% of the GDP. According to the sources, the economists present in the meeting, discussed on a number of issues including ways to ensure that the economic recovery is shielded from the global headwinds.

"Some economists talked about various measures needed to revive the rural economy, while some recommended bringing an urban employment scheme in line with MNREGA.

There should be a road map for reverting back to the 3% fiscal deficit target," one of the sources said.

They also recommended the government to continue its capital expenditure strategy. In the 2022 budget, Sitharaman had announced a 35% jump in the capital expenditure from ₹5.54 lakh crore to ₹7.5 lakh crore.

"Some people suggested since the government has seen a very robust growth tax collection, it can look at lowering some tax rates (either personal income tax or consumption taxes) as a stimulus to the recovery process. Right now they are getting much more than what they are predicting in terms of tax collection," another source said, who didn't want to be quoted.

In the meeting, there were Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist at ICRA; Santanu Sengupta, Chief India Economist, Goldman Sachs, among others.

Amazon to shut wholesale distribution unit in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

E-commerce giant Amazon is shutting down its wholesale e-commerce website for neighbourhood stores - Amazon Distribution.

This is its third business closure in the country. Last week, the company announced that it will shut down online learning platform 'Amazon Academy', and that it will discontinue its pilot food delivery business

Amazon Food in Bengaluru.

"As part of our annual operating planning review process, we have made the decision to discontinue Amazon Distribution, our wholesale e-commerce website for small neighborhood stores around Bengaluru, Mysore & Hubli. We don't take these decisions lightly. We are discontinuing this programme in a phased manner to take care of current customers and partners and we are supporting our affected employees during this transition," Amazon said in a statement.

"We remain committed to India and will continue to invest across those areas where we can bring value to our customers including Grocery, Smartphones and Consumer Electronics, Fashion & Beauty, as well as our B2B offerings such as Amazon Business," it added.

Amazon Business is a B2B marketplace where third-party sellers sell only to business customers.

Amazon Distribution, which is now being discontinued, operated in three cities in Karnataka.

CRYPTOCURRENCY

WAZIRX BLOCKED OVER 700 ACCOUNTS IN APRIL-SEPT 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

OVER 700 accounts were blocked in the April-September 2022 period by crypto exchange WazirX. The exchange on Monday released the third edition of its transparency report that said the majority of the accounts blocked were due to requests that came in from users.

The report also highlights common trends observed in crypto scams that users should be aware of.

The crypto exchange has received 828 queries from Law Enforcement Agencies (LEA) against a total of 10 million transactions on the platform during April-September 2022. Of the total, 764 were by Indian agencies. The most number of requests came in from regulators and law enforcement agencies in Maharashtra.

Illegal fund transfers, crypto scams, cheating, and forgery were the most common types of crimes reported, resembling scams in the traditional financial sector, the report said.

The exchange also said that the recommended statutory Turnaround Time (TAT) for responding to the LEA requests is up to 72 hrs from the time a request is received. "However, with the help of efficient communication channels, WazirX clocked an average TAT as miniscule as 18 minutes for sending the first cut reply," it said.

The crypto exchange has witnessed a growth in LEA requests pertaining to social engineering scams. Social engineering attacks are usually conducted through emails, phone calls, and even text messages.

In Bandra, Mumbai, Maharashtra, the WazirX team helped identify wallets linked to Chinese loan apps which were used to dupe people through fraudulent transactions. "Under various pretexts ranging from credit card expiry to bank account validation, the scammer tends to flag off a sense of urgency and fear with the aim to push victims to take action without careful assessment," it said.

S&P cuts India's GDP growth to 7% for FY23; SBI sees Q2 growth at 5.8%

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

S&P GLOBAL RATINGS has further slashed India's economic growth projection to 7% for FY23 due to global slowdown, geopolitical tension between Russia and Ukraine and inflationary pressure.

Earlier in September, the agency had made a growth forecast of 7.3% for the current fiscal and 6.5% for the next. "Global slowdown will have less impact on domestic demand-led economies such as India... India's output will expand 7% in fiscal year 2022-2023 and 6% in next fiscal year," S&P Global Ratings Asia-Pacific chief economist Louis Kuijs said. Meanwhile, SBI Research expects FY23 economic growth at 6.8% as against the RBI's projection of 7%. In addition, it estimated Q2FY23 growth at 5.8%. Earlier, ICRA had projected the September quarter GDP growth rate at 6.5%. RBI estimates India's GDP to grow at 6.3% in the September quarter.

India will come out with its Q2 GDP numbers on November 30. CLI Index, a basket of 41 leading indicators which includes parameters from almost all sectors, based on monthly data shows falling economic activity after June 2022 to August 2022. Beginning September 2022, it signals a turning point with the increase in economic activity, making Q3FY23 GDP growth more optimistic.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

"Several indicators suggest that the Indian economy is making resilient progress in Q2FY23 in spite of the drag from global spillovers, elevated inflation and some slackening of external demand as geopolitical developments take their toll on world trade," SBI Research said in its report.

TRAI to form joint panel to curb pesky calls, messages menace

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN a bid to detect pesky calls and messages, which has become a major source of inconvenience to the public and impinges on the privacy of individuals, telecom regulator body TRAI will form a panel

The Joint Committee of Regulators (JCOR) will have members from Telecom Regulatory Authority of India(TRAI), Reserve Bank of India(RBI), Securities & Exchanges Board of India(SEBI) and Ministry of Consumer Affairs(MoCA).

"Currently complaints are reported against unregistered telemarketers (UTMs) where a surge has been seen in various kinds of Unsolicited Commercial Communications (UCC) SMSes. UCC calls are one of the concerns that needs to be dealt with equally along with UCC SMSes," it said. TRAI in coordination with various stakeholders is taking necessary steps to check UCC from UTMs. These steps include implementation of UCC detect system, provision of digital consent acquisition, intelligent scrubbing of headers and message templates, using AI (artificial intelligence) and ML (machine learning), etc," the statement said.

Instant messaging platform WhatsApp denies 'data leak'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

META-owned instant messaging platform WhatsApp on Monday denied data breach and said that there is no evidence of a 'data leak' from the platform.

A report claimed that someone is allegedly selling mobile phone numbers of nearly 500 million WhatsApp users. It contained WhatsApp user data from 84 countries. The report added that the threat actor claims there are over 32 million US user records included.

The report claimed that in India, over 61 lakh records of WhatsApp users are on sale.

It also said that there is no evidence that WhatsApp has been hacked and that the leak might be obtained by scraping. Denying the report, WhatsApp said the claim was based on unsubstantiated screenshots. Stressing on the need for a holistic data management approach, Balaji Rao, Area Vice President, Commvault, India & SAARC recently said that India is among the top three nations in Asia, based on the number of cyberattack incidents in 2022.

Carmakers to invest ₹65K cr for capacity building, product development by FY25

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

PASSENGER vehicle (PV) makers are likely to invest nearly ₹65,000 crore by financial year 2025 to ramp up production capacities to cater to rising demand, rating agency Icra said on Monday.

It stated the demand for PVs has remained healthy and the industry wholesale volumes are expected to touch an all-time high of 3.7-3.8 million units in FY23, a growth of 21-24% over the previous fiscal.

Rohan Kanwar Gupta, vice-President & sector head - corporate ratings, ICRA, said, "Multiple original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) have already announced an aggregate outlay in excess of ₹25,000 crore towards capacity expansion for the next few fiscals. Besides capex, auto component manufacturers are also expected to scale up their investments to support their customers." He added, "With OEMs budgeting for a substantial outlay towards new product development, including development of capabilities/dedicated platforms for electric vehicles, aggregate capex outlay for OEMs is likely to remain heightened at ₹65,000 crore over FY2023-FY2025." While the capex outlay is likely to rise significantly, a majority of it will be met via healthy cash accruals and parent funding support, apart from inorganic fundraising in some of the recently formed EV subsidiaries. Thus, a rise in leverage is unlikely for most OEMs, and the credit profiles are expected to remain healthy. Significant investments announced by PV makers include ₹7,000 crore by Maruti Suzuki in FY2023, ₹7,900 crore by Mahindra & Mahindra over three years ending FY2024, ₹6,725 by Tata Motors and ₹4,000 crore by MG Motors.

ONGC pays ₹5K cr dividend to govt; CPSEs pay ₹23,797 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

OIL AND NATURAL GAS CORPORATION (ONGC), India's largest oil and gas explorer and producer company has paid ₹5,001 crore as dividend to the government, said Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) Secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey on Monday.

With this, the total dividend received by the government from Central Public Sector Enterprises (CPSEs) in current fiscal stands at ₹23,797 crore. As per guidelines, CPSEs need to pay minimum annual dividend of 30% of profit after tax (PAT) or 5% of net worth, whichever is higher. ONGC had earlier paid ₹2,408 crore in divdend to the government on October 6, 2022.

So far, oil companies including BPCL paid ₹690, GAIL ₹226 crore and IOL ₹307 crore as dividend. The government has received ₹1,223 crore from Coal India and ₹1,487 crore from NTPC this fiscal. In 2020, DIPAM advised CPSEs to follow a consistent dividend policy and strive to pay higher dividends taking into account factors like profitability, capex requirements, cash and net worth.

Cameroon's Maxim Choupo-Moting wheels away in celebration after scoring against Serbia at the Al Janoub Stadium on Monday. The match finished 3-3 | AP

LIONS SHARE OF PASSION

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

EVEN in the vivid, vibrant world of African football, Cameroon are an outlier. The stories are endless. The heroes evoke an awe, some of their feats etched in the sands of time. Heck, when you are known as the 'Indomitable Lions', you can see why Cameroon doesn't do boring.

Right from Roger Milla using the corner flag for his dance routine in 1990 to the national team refusing to travel to Brazil to the 2014 World Cup till the national federation (it was reported they had to take out a loan to pay players to take the flight days before the World Cup began) had paid the bonuses promised to them, it's been a ride. That ride was in full force on Monday. It began even before their match against Serbia when it was revealed their first-choice keeper, Andre Onana, had been dropped from the 26-man squad. Onana, news had filtered in, had a disagreement with coach Rigobert Song, Cameroon's record cap holder.

GROUP G
Team	M	W	D	L	Pts
Brazil (Q)	2	2	0	0	6
Switzerland	2	1	0	1	3
Cameroon	2	0	1	1	1
Serbia	2	0	1	1	1

On the field, Cameroon took an early lead against Serbia. In response, the Europeans scored three goals inside nine minutes. Just when it looked like the Africans were heading home early, they mounted a response of their own to level thanks to a two-goal blitz. Both sides had chances to score a fourth but ultimately shared the spoils. Apart from a penchant for embracing chaos, they have a knack for producing handy strikers. There's the aforementioned Eto'o and Milla. There was Patrick Mboma, who was in the side when they won the Olympics in 2000. These days, it's Vincent Aboubakar and Eric Maxim Choupo-Moting. Both players had a heavy hand in Cameroon keeping alive their slim hopes of qualifying for the knock-out stages. The pair have already had a memorable 2022 and Monday was a reminder that the duo could yet cook up something special.

At the Africa Cup of Nations which Cameroon hosted earlier this year, Aboubakar won the golden boot to lead the side to a third-place finish. Choupo-Moting, meanwhile, has gone from leading the line for Stoke City to PSG's plan B to Bayern Munich's Robert Lewandowski replacement. In fact, the 33-year-old has the third best minutes per goals scored (87 minutes per goal for his six Bundesliga goals) among the top five European leagues. The top two are Lewandowski and Erling Haaland (minimum six goals).

Even after taking the Bundesliga tax into equation, Choupo-Moting has emerged as an effective attacker. He can pick up the ball in awkward areas and drive at the defence. He possesses a handy change of pace and has the upper body strength needed to play up front at this level.

If the Hamburg-born attacker is the safe pair of hands in this forward line, Aboubakar is the embodiment of Cameroonian football. Highs, lows, controversies but never boring. Even before the forward made his international debut, his exploits at age-group football meant he had been marked for future successes. While he has never quite managed to replicate those feats in senior football, he remains a hugely popular figure in his country. Not least because he scored the goal that won Cameroon the Nations Cup in 2017.

It explains why the locals call him 'Aboutcho'. "It is just an affectionate word we use for the youngest of children," The Athletic quoted a local as saying during the AFCON in January 2022. "It means 'My beloved', or something like that." He also has a one-sided rivalry with Mo Salah. As recently as November, Aboubakar claimed that: "I understand people's attitudes, he's one of the best goalscorers in the Premier League," he had told 90football.fr. "It makes sense that when you go on about a player like that, people will talk. "But I did say that it was my opinion, my point of view. I'm not impressed by him. I can do what he does. I just don't have the opportunity to play in a big club."

While the draw keeps alive their slim chances, they haven't won a game at the World Cup for 20 years. Their final group game? Brazil. While not many will back them, beating the Selecao will be on brand for the side that refuses to do boring.

Qatar FIFA WORLD CUP FINALS 2022

Ecuador: Galindez (1), Porozo (25), Torres (2), Hincapie (3), Preciado (17), Mendez (20), Caicedo (23), Estupinan (7), Plata (19), Estrada (11), Valencia (13)

Senegal: Mendy (16), Sabaly (21), Koulibaly (3), Diallo (22), Jakobs (14), Sarr (17), Mendy (2), Gueye (5), Diatta (15), Dia (9), Diedhiou (29)

MATCH POINT

In the first of what's likely to be several head-to-heads for one spot, Ecuador face Senegal. A look...

AN IMPRESSIVE MACHINE

Out of the teams to have played two games, Ecuador have looked one of the most impressive. They have brought high energy and youthful zest, both of which were noticeable against the Netherlands. A defensive solidity — seven shots conceded and one on target — is the starting point.

VALENCIA DOUBTFUL

Ecuador have a number of players whose ceilings are high (Pervis Estupinan, Piero Hincapie, Moises Caicedo and Gonzalo Plata among others) but the team's main focal point is Enner Valencia. He's already scored three times and is crucial for them. The question, though, is he fit?

ISMAILA KEY

The African champs haven't effectively replaced Sadio Mane's goals but they have been highly impressive in using the wide areas. Ismaila Sarr's pace and dribbling skills are key. He stretched the play against Qatar and if he can do something similar against Ecuador, that will be an avenue for Senegal to get behind.

Boxer Alvarez threatens Messi

DOHA: Champion boxer Saul 'Canelo' Alvarez issued a warning to Lionel Messi after a video emerged of the star celebrating Argentina's World Cup win over Mexico with a Mexican jersey on the floor. "Did you see Messi cleaning the changing room with our jersey and flag????" wrote Mexican Alvarez on Twitter. "He had better ask God that I don't find him!!" Some people replied to Alvarez pointing out that the video did not show Messi cleaning anything, nor was there a Mexico flag in it.

Neymar's absence felt as five-time champions labour to a 1-0 win

CASEMIRO THE HERO

ONCE again, Brazil arrived at the party late, Casemiro striking with a swivelling shot, a delightful bit of skill, in the 83rd minute. Stadium 974 serenaded the midfielder and Ricardo Kaka, 2002 World Cup winner, pumped his fist in the stands. Amid all the talented youngsters, veteran Casemiro had stood up to rescue Brazil following a laboured performance against Switzerland. In the absence of Neymar, that was telling.

As Brazilian supporters, including thousands of Indians, had descended on Stadium 974 — the container venue — on the outskirts of the Qatari capital, they went through the repertoire of their time-tested songs: 'Tchau Messi' (Goodbye, Messi), 'O campeao chegou' (the champions are coming) and, perhaps, in the context of their match with Switzerland, the most important 'So Brazil tem Neymar' (Only Brazil have Neymar). It's a song to taunt Lionel Messi and the Albiceleste.

Messi and Argentina responded to their defeat against Saudi Arabia, one of the World Cup's all-time great upsets, with a 2-0 win against Mexico. Brazil's predicament was somewhat different: how would the five-time world champions respond to playing without Neymar, out with an ankle injury? Against Switzerland, it was Brazil's first match without him at a World Cup since that infamous 7-1 defeat when Germany demonstrated how outdated and outmoded that the Seleçao were without their talisman.

Perhaps after 20 minutes, it was crystal clear how much Brazil missed Neymar. The team's intensity and verticality had dropped. Tite's inclusion of Fred, the Manchester United midfielder, was a choice for defensive solidity. Playing alongside Casemiro, he reinforced the midfield. In a way, Tite's choice was understandable: Switzerland were formidable opposition. Besides, Brazil had never beaten Switzerland at the World Cup. Four years ago, they drew 1-1 in Russia, and 2-2 back in 1950.

Brazil's midfielder Casemiro (Centre) celebrates after scoring his team's goal during Group G encounter against Switzerland in Doha on Monday | AFP

Express POST
SAMINDRA KUNTI @ DOHA

And yet, it was also the return of the old Tite — from the days of his first spell with Corinthians when he won just about everything there is to win in club football but with a style of play that hardly enchanted. That Corinthians was defensively strong, patient to the point of unnerving the fans, always scrapping through with narrow victories. Tite was being Tite.

Fred's play, however, meant that slower build-up and more passing through the middle, reducing the threat of Brazil's greatest weapons: Vinicius Junior and Raphinha on the flanks. Brazil became pedestrian. Midway through the first half, Lucas Paqueta momentarily fell asleep on the halfway line with the ball at his feet. Remo Freuler nearly dispossessed him before Alex Sandro came to the rescue. It was typical of Brazil: they weren't doing a great deal. In many ways, it was an absorbing contest, even if Brazil's ball circulation was too slow. They were chopping away at Switzerland, but without progressing the ball much.

Perhaps they were carrying the same burden that led to their downfall on home soil eight years ago. That Brazil side didn't possess the psychological wherewithal to play without Neymar. The outcome against Germany was earth-shattering, a result that echoes in eternity and matched Brazil's trauma of the 1950 final defeat by Uruguay (known as Maracanazo).

This match and this group stage, then, are more of a study of the Brazilian psyche than anything else. Does Tite regret not including Liverpool's Roberto Firmino in his squad after all because he can serve as a false nine? Is Brazil after all Neymar dependent? Are they not as good as everyone thought? What happens if Neymar does not return this tournament?

You get the theme — it is not about Neymar and somehow it is all about Neymar. Argentina are victims of the same trap — under Lionel Scaloni, Messi is firmly integrated into the team and yet against Mexico, it turned out to be all about Messi. In Doha, Neymar was watching the match at the Westin Hotel, Brazil's base camp, and yet at Stadium 974 it was all about him. Brazil were huffing and puffing, and not achieving a great deal. Neymar's ghost was roaming around the venue. It's a problem Tite needs to solve, but can't. Even with all of Raphinha, Rodrygo, Richarlison, Vinicius and Bruno Guimaraes on the pitch, the Selecao didn't rekindle the dazzling interplay that tore Serbia apart.

Richarlison stepped up against the East Europeans. Here, Vinicius tried, but he was isolated on the left. Raphinha kept Brazil ticking in the first half, but ultimately faded, much like the rest of the Brazilian team. In the end, Casemiro rescued the Seleçao with a skilful finish, but in the knockout phase, that may not be enough to see Brazil reach the final. Brazil, then, do need Neymar, more than ever.

A POLITICAL FIXTURE

IN ONE OF THE MOST POLITICAL FIXTURES OF THE WORLD CUP, IRAN AND US FACE EACH OTHER KNOWING VICTORY WILL CONDEMN THE OTHER. A LOOK...

ADDED SPICE

On Sunday, US football federation posted a doctored version of Iran's flag on social media channels claiming it was intentionally done to stand in solidarity with the protests in Iran. It didn't go down well.

US' ENERGY

On the field, how well will Iran cope with the energy of Yunas Musah, Weston McKennie and Tyler Adams in midfield? If Iran can cope with this triangle, they will have won the first battle.

IRAN'S DEFENSIVE SOLIDITY

Iran have a pair of mercurial strikers in the shape of Sardar Azmoun and Mehdi Taremi. But what works for them is keeping the door shut at the back. They are yet to concede this year in the six matches they have won. It will be a low block, players behind the ball before hitting them on the counter.

SCENARIO IN GROUP B

As long as England avoid defeat by four goals against Wales, they will advance. A win will guarantee them top spot. For US to advance, they need to beat Iran who will go through as long as they avoid defeat.

Kudus brace lifts Ghana in thriller against S Korea

AFP @ Doha

MOHAMMED Kudus scored twice as Ghana beat South Korea 3-2 in a pulsating World Cup tie to keep their World Cup hopes alive and leave Paulo Bento's side facing an early exit.

Mohammed Salisu opened the scoring against the run of play midway through the first half at Education City Stadium and Ajax midfielder Kudus doubled the Black Stars' lead. But the Asian side roared back after the break, pulling level through a quickfire double from forward Cho Gue-sung either side of the hour mark. Ghana looked shell-shocked as the Korean fans celebrated wildly but they were back in front in the 68th minute when Kudus finished calmly at the back post after Inaki Williams failed to connect with a cross from the left. South Korea were quicker to settle.

● Result: South Korea 2 -3 Ghana

German coach happy, makes a point

GERMANY can heave a sigh of relief. It was billed as one of the highlight games of the group stages and at the Al Bayt Stadium, Spain and Germany did not disappoint. Of course Japan and Costa Rica helped, setting up the Group E tie in a manner that all but eliminated the possibility of the two European sides playing out an organised and insipid 90+ minutes. Both Germany's coach Hansi Flick and Spain's Luis Enrique, as well as man of the match Alvaro Morata, made multiple mentions of the nature of the tournament and the problems the 'other' two sides have created in what would have normally been seen as a straightforward group. After two rounds of games, nothing is straightforward about Group E.

Despite losing their first game against Japan and drawing this fixture, Germany are still alive after Costa Rica beat Japan earlier on Monday.

From the opening whistle the quality, intensity and desire was on view from both teams. Spain looked supremely confident. Within 30 minutes, they had clocked over 250 passes and appeared to have the composure, ability and game plan to send Germany home well before most pundits might have called time on Die Mannschaft. Exemplified by Aymeric Laporte's no-look header back to his goalkeeper, Unai Simon, in the 18th minute, Spain looked in cruise control. Playing with characteristic fluidity, while at the same time pressing hard, it seemed only a matter of time. But football is not always what you see at eye-level. Flick made this point several times in the post-match press conference. Below the surface, Germany's determination and dictation of the pace, particularly at critical junctures, had far more impact on the result than the casual observer might imagine.

Nicklas Fullkrug (L) scored to rescue Germany against Spain on Sunday | AP

The introduction of Alvaro Morata by Spain fairly early, in the 53rd minute, to replace Ferran Torres, yielded immediate fruit. The centre forward, a rare breed, did what he was brought on for, finding the net with a deliberate and perfectly weighted touch with the outside of his foot at the end of a Jordi Alba cross to put Spain ahead and reinforce the illusion of control. But Germany have never lost back-to-back World Cup group-stage games. And Sunday night would not prove a first.

In the last 20 minutes, the dynamics changed almost entirely. Flick made his set of changes, bringing on Leroy Sane and Nicklas Fullkrug (another old-school centre forward complete with the build of a boxer and the corresponding gap tooth). Together with Jamal Musiala, who is fast establishing himself as among the most striking talents in the world of football at the age of 19, the trio turned the pressure on the Spaniards.

Enrique had to face the flak from the Spanish press. When asked about the changes he chose to deflect saying hindsight can't be used to judge those decisions. "When you have the opportunity to win and you don't, it's a sad moment," he said. "But we are still on top of the classification and we have to take that as a positive."

Express GOAL
SIDDHANTH ANEY @ DOHA

For Flick the scenario was not much different. After the defeat to Japan this result was far better and reflected in both the questions and answers after the game. He acknowledged the beauty in the way Spain played much of the game and the philosophy Enrique instills in the side. "Spain are a great team with a good mix of players, lots of young talent and experience. I like how they play," he said. "But we pushed against them; we pushed hard. There was a shift in the game. It was very difficult to defend and we need to improve. But we are more than happy with the performance."

From a neutral perspective, one couldn't have hoped for more. The game produced enough to keep millions glued to every minute of the action. And yet the result leaves the door wide open for all four teams in the group ahead of the last round of matches, which is something that can be said of most of the tournament.

● Result (Sunday): Spain 1-1 Germany.

QUICK PASSES

Gavi misses Spain practice

DOHA: Teenager Gavi did not practice with Spain on Monday, a day after the team's draw with Germany. Gavi was nursing a minor injury sustained in the 1-1 draw at Al Bayt Stadium on Sunday. The 18-year-old midfielder was substituted in the 66th minute against Germany, shortly after Spain took a 1-0 lead. The injury was not expected to keep Gavi from being available in the final group match against Japan on Thursday. Spain needs a draw go reach the round of 16. Gavi scored once in the team's 7-0 rout of Costa Rica, becoming the youngest World Cup scorer since Pelé in 1958.

Cisse wants players to be calm

DOHA: Senegal coach Aliou Cisse urged his players "not to overthink" their World Cup showdown with Ecuador, knowing they likely must win their final group game to reach the last 16. Cisse said his side was keeping a "cool head" and promised "not to overthink the game tomorrow" despite the weight on their shoulders. "We are OK, we are dealing with pressure and stress. For me it is good stress. We are working day in, day out. I have been working with my players and we have been working for years to get to the World Cup."

Riots in Belgium, Netherlands

BRUSSELS: Riots broke out in several Belgian and Dutch cities after Morocco's 2-0 upset win over Belgium. Police detained about a dozen people after they deployed water cannons and fire tear gas to disperse crowds in Brussels and eight more in the Northern city of Antwerp. Two police officials were injured in the Dutch port city of Rotterdam. By late Sunday, an uneasy calm had returned to most of the cities involved. Dozens of rioters overturned and torched cars, set electric scooters on fire and pelted cars with bricks.

DAY'S DIARY

Game launch

Pong, a simulated table tennis game, was launched on this day in 1972. It became the first commercially successful video game

THE HISTORY

Atari co-founder Nolan Bushnell saw a demo of an electronic ping pong game in 1972 and assigned an engineer named Alan Alcorn to develop a version of the game

A NEW VERSION

Bushnell asked Steve Jobs, who was one of the first fifty employees at Atari, to design a single-player version of Pong in the summer of 1975

A SUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT

The success of the arcade game encouraged Atari to manufacture a home-based version in 1975 and it too was a commercial success

Billionaire businessman and philanthropist Kris Gopalkrishnan recently cofinanced the Science Gallery with ₹51 crore. In a candid conversation with CE, he speaks about his interest in science, his Infy days and his secret behind dealing with stress

'MUST PUT MY MONEY WHERE MY MOUTH IS'

MONIKA MONALISA

EVER wondered how businessman Senapathy Gopalakrishnan from Thiruvananthapuram became Kris Gopalakrishnan? The story goes back to the year 1977 when he was a student at the Indian Institute of Technology – Madras. "While doing my M.Tech between '75 and '79, my username at the computer centre had to be Kris because Gopal was already taken. Gopi, Krishnan, Krish were taken too, so I got Kris. Then my friends started calling me Kris and when I went to the USA, it became Kris Gopalkrishnan," laughs the billionaire businessman.

Gopalkrishnan, who along with Rohini Nilekani and Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw, recently donated ₹51 crore to the Science Gallery, strongly believes that research, innovation and entrepreneurship are required for the growth of the economy. "That's where new ideas, products, businesses and high growth companies come from. As India becomes a developed economy, we need to have our own products," he adds with enthusiasm.

frankly speaking

The other reason for his keen interest in science and technology is his hope that it will become more affordable if developed in India. "We have to have a very strong research base in India. The government is spending money on research but they could spend more. However, the private sector, including philanthropists, must play a much bigger role in funding," he says, adding, "We should disrupt the healthcare and mobility space. I believe it is happening to an extent. For example, we need to have our own battery technology, we need to have next-generation fuel technology. That's the reason why I am interested in research. I must put money where my mouth is." Personally, he is currently supporting research studies being conducted on the brain at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore and IIT-Madras.

Three decades ago, Gopalkrishnan, along with six others, became one of the founding fathers of Infosys, which changed the destiny of the IT landscape. But looking back, he can see how situations have changed. "When Infosys was started in 1981, there was no internet, no social media, no mobile phone, no venture capital. Entrepreneurship was there, but there was no company by a first generation entrepreneur, which could claim to be globally competitive," says Gopalkrishnan, adding that the situation is quite different now with India transforming into a digital economy. "Today, entrepreneurs are competitive. And the credit goes partly to our generation of founders for instilling that sense of confidence in some sense," he says, adding that the IT industry is $220 billion dollars with 5 million employees.

Apart from co-founding a multi-national company, a startup and funding science research in India, Gopalkrishnan is like any of us. He loves reading and travelling with his family. "I am interested in watching cricket, and now, of course, football. I don't have a favourite team but I like watching a good match when Germany or France plays. I listen to music, especially when I am on a flight. But I don't have time to go to concerts," he says, adding that the key way of dealing with stress is to work towards it.

Ashraf Motiwala, a legacy jeweller, has collaborated with lifestyle practitioner Luke Coutinho to launch an affirmation accessories line

IN GOOD FAITH

EXPRESS FEATURES

WHAT happens when a jeweller joins hands with a wellness coach? While the combination may sound unusual, Ashraf Motiwala and Luke Coutinho have put their heads together, and the result is a new line of jewellery, 'Faith by ASM'. The idea behind it is simple: help people better express themselves to their loved ones.

At an exhibition hosted at Sublime in UB City over the weekend, Motiwala, a fourth-generation legacy jeweller and joint managing director of AS Motiwala Fine Jewellery explains, "Luke and I share a similar philosophy about having faith and believing in your dreams. It's not just about saying it to yourself but actually having it embodied in your being as such. It's not about the business of selling jewellery, it's more emotional. It has a feeling of giving back."

Motiwala's long-time friend and fitness guru, Coutinho says that despite people slowly moving towards healthier lifestyles, he felt that there wasn't enough attention being paid towards people's emotional health. "While we look at the missing nutrients in people's diet, and various health parameters to try and help them at every level, both mental and physical. Emotional health has also become a big problem but it doesn't get the same attention. We are missing words like gratitude, belief, faith, hope, in our lives. I deal with a lot of patients with terminal diseases, and when life gets tough, these are words that they need most," he shares.

Luke Coutinho and Ashraf Motiwala

Explaining how the idea of launching a collection of jewellery to address the problem struck, Coutinho says: "One day Ashraf gifted me this necklace and bracelet with the word 'faith', which I gave to one of my patients, who was fighting cancer. And during her last few months, she would send me videos while getting chemotherapy, holding onto that faith. She passed away gracefully. She handed that over as a legacy to her daughter and it would be treasured." Following that experience, Coutinho realised that getting affirmations from close ones could fix emotional health issues to an extent. "It's all about giving hope and expressing gratitude," he shares.

Bengaluru, Motiwala feels, is the perfect city to launch the new collection given the city's unique customer base. "Bengaluru is probably our favourite in India. We have a lot of clients here, and a lot of support. People in the south are very conscious of quality. Of course, having been coming for four generations helps with that," he says.

IF you step into the campus of Alliance University, on the outskirts, you'll be greeted with the warm embrace of books. The campus is host to the Asia Pacific Literature Festival, organised by Asia Pacific Writers & Translators , a prominent international literary networking association. The theme of this year's festival is 'Writing Outside the Frame'.

This was the first time author Rochelle Almeida, who gave the keynote address, participated in this festival. "When I got the call, I was still in the process of relocating back to India after 33 years in the US. I was juggling between my home in Connecticut and the one in India, and wasn't sure if I would be able to make it here in time. But I'm glad I came," shares Almeida, who will also be participating in a panel discussion on Tuesday about writing in foreign environments where she will speak about her book The Year the World Was Mine.

Since this is the first time the festival is happening in the university, students are quite elated. "We started noticing all the preparations happening since a week now. We have been having a great time," says Alliance student Muna Ali Kosar, who attended the opening address given by mythologist Devdutt Pattanaik and is looking forward to comedian-actor Danish Sait's presentation on Wednesday.

Anubha Singh, vice-chancellor of the university is thrilled that this literary festival is happening in their backyard. "It is wonderful because it now reimagines the university as a literary hub, engaging vibrantly with the world outside," concludes Singh.

FIT BIT

VIPARITA NAMASKAR VRIKSHASANA (REVERSE PRAYER TREE POSE)

This intermediate posture creates a fantastic stretch for the shoulders. A warm up pose, it can be done standing or sitting. This opens the Anahata (heart) chakra, which is associated with compassion, forgiveness, emotional stability and love.

STEPS

- Stand in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), placing the feet together keeping knees completely straight. Arms on the sides.
- Lift up the left foot and hold the ankle with the left hand. Bend at the knee.
- Using both hands, put the left heel on the right thigh as high as possible, toes pointing downwards. Try to balance your body on the right leg.
- Bring your palms together into a prayer position (Namaste) in front of your chest. Hold the position to flex your wrists. Then, bring your arms behind your back and then join your palms in prayer position with your fingers pointing downwards.
- Inhale, turn the fingertips inward towards the spine, pointing the fingers upward. Stretch your body and stand straight.
- Look straight and breathe normally. Hold the final position for as long as you feel comfortable.
- To release, exhale, turn the fingertips downward. Bring hands to the sides.
- Repeat the pose with the other leg.
- Practise three-five rounds.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the shoulder, upper back, joints, and pectoral muscles.
- Releases tension from your shoulders, forearms, wrists, and collarbones area.
- Beneficial in making your spine, shoulder, and arms flexible.
- Reduces stress and calms the mind.
- Helps to improve your body posture.
- Activates appropriate Bandhas.
- Opens the chest and abdominal. Improves breathing and lung function.
- Reduces thyroid, digestion and emotions.
- Regular practise of this pose reduces negative emotions.
- Opens up your chest and maintain your energy levels.
- Best for those with Carpal Tunnel Syndrome.
- Relieves mild depression and anxiety.

LIMITATIONS

Those with elbow injury or weak ankles or knees, sciatica or severe back pain should avoid this.

People with low BP, those suffering from insomnia or headaches should avoid holding it for prolonged time.

hrithik@newindianexpress.com

2012, when several conspiracy theorists suggested that the world would end, passed on much like any other year, but for me. A series of personal, and in turn professional, debacles pinned my progress to the ground – it felt tragic. That year, the world indeed felt like it was ending for me.

Those were listless days and sleepless nights. The old saying, "An idle mind is the devil's workshop," was beginning to hold true, but here was to be the inflection point of my life – one filled with knowledge of, and love for all things 'world'. The time that I gave up on sleep, I remained glued to the internet on the large PC in my bedroom, where I rediscovered myself.

They were days when Facebook was the major hangout online, and the concept of 'social networking' held sway over the simpler 'social media' today. But no! It wasn't on FB that I lurked for some perceived solace. I was hooked on random reading, and watching documentaries and info-packed videos instead. Being a business reporter, I was armed with considerable knowledge of things and issues. But the reading that I engrossed myself in during those sleep-deprived months of 2012, rendered new meaning to my life and piqued my interest in a plethora of complex, yet fascinating subjects, from geopolitics, Indology, Egyptology, astrophysics, philosophy, and parapsychology, to food history, travel, and board games.

I read, watched and learned. I was specifically captivated by world history, especially the wars and popular revolutions of the latter part of the 20th century, apart from natural science. Complementing the online spread of information, was my collecting and reading of rare books. E-commerce was taking off, and I found precious works from around the world landing in my study. There were Barbara Demick's Nothing to Envy – Real Lives in North Korea, Martin Meredith's Fate of Africa, and Jawaharlal Nehru's Glimpses of World History, to name a few great books that taught me the failings of the world, overcome by the resilience of humanity. Then there were Cosmos of the great late Carl Sagan and Charles Darwin's Origin of Species, reminding me of my position in creation. Likewise, a short documentary on how French philologist Jean-François Champollion deciphered the hieroglyphics on the Rosetta Stone, depicted the determination of the human mind and faith of the human spirit.

Those were painful months. But reading through them, when I could have battled the demons of sleeplessness, made me a better, complete person. Global conflicts told me just how insignificant were I and my 'big problems of life', while there were people out there confronted with the real-world questions of life and death. I also experienced the joy of appreciating life in all its beauty, simplicity and grace. The world is a beautiful place, so are its peoples, and life is a blessing, which I was wasting. And it dawned on me that life sometimes challenges us, as it had done to me, but we are never alone in this world or in this predicament.

MUSINGS OF A MASTERCHEF

The one question that the viewers and the judges of MasterChef Australia 2021 had in mind whenever they saw Justin Narayan cooking was how the chef was maintaining his pace despite being under a lot of pressure. Narayan clarified that doubt in the Grand Finale episode. He said, "My goal is just to be consistent regardless of what the scoreboard ends up like." This consistency not only made him win the title that year but also opened up the possibilities of expanding his culinary skills to contribute to society. When this man of few words — who believes in letting his knives and ladles speak — came to Bengaluru for a special night at the Taj West End, he unfolded his food memories and the journey so far, while curating a special dinner for the guests.

Into the culinary world

The Fijian-Indian chef ventured into cooking at the age of 13. It was his inclination towards watching TV shows related to food made him pursue the art of cooking. He recalls, "Growing up in Australia and having an Indian influence at my house, everything kind of revolved around food. When cooking shows became popular during my teenage years, I used to watch them with my grandparents. It always used to interest me to see something different being cooked. It felt cool to explore more, practice different things and taste the dishes."

Growing up, food was synonymous with celebration and bringing people together for Narayan. It was his family's encouragement that made him explore more. "During Christmas or New Year's Eve, we would make the Fijian Lovo as a group. Digging a hole in the backyard, wrapping up the lamb with banana leaves and covering it in the hole with dirt, waiting for eight hours for it to cook and finally eat with everyone — we used to do it all," shares the chef whose comfort food continues to be the food cooked by his mother.

Mastering the skill

Narayan applied for MasterChef while pursuing his Masters in Psychology. He describes the experience as "a rollercoaster ride with both fun and scary parts." "It was a last-minute thought. My fiancé (now wife) and friends had convinced me and I applied for the competition on the last day of submission. I went into it thinking of giving it a shot and it was almost shocking when I won the title. The whole thing was a life-changing experience and taught me a lot," he says. The different experiences elevated his culinary skills within a short span of time and gave him a new start.

Justin also tries his hand at experimenting and creating fusions. His exposure to both Fijian and Indian culture and food also contributes to his strength in cooking. He says, "The cooking styles of fresh seafood and seasonal vegetables are very similar in both regions. I think that is a factor that connects them. What makes it interesting for me to explore the dishes is that most of the dishes in Fiji have lost their regionality because of the cultural mix. This creates unique combinations and that is a whole new area to be explored." Not diluting the authenticity of the dishes while staying true to it is a difficult task but the chef achieves it with consistency and dedication. "While creating a fusion, I try to understand the history or the story behind the original dish. There has to be a bigger reason behind creating a fusion and it shouldn't be made for the sake of preparing. Even though fusing two different cultures or ingredients is the best thing, it should be done only when it is essential," he says, adding that one should be open to adapting the cooking styles of different countries to end up creating the best results.

> Justin Narayan, MasterChef Australia 2021 winner

With his MasterChef journey, he has already reached an audience of millions and through his website justinnarayan.cooking and his social media pages, he aims for a wide reach. On a parting note, Justin shares his future aspirations. "I will continue to explore cooking for restaurants especially, some based in Sydney. I would love to create more content online because it is a really fun way to connect with people and everyone has been really encouraging," he signs off.

Baby Shower for a Cause

Infertility Is becoming a major health crisis in India. To tackle this challenge and spread positivity, Oasis Fertility, HSR Layout, conducted a Mass Baby Shower to felicitate couples who conceived through IVF. Lifestyle choices such as smoking, consumption of alcohol, delayed parenting, and more can lead to infertility. Speaking on the occasion, Dr Meghana Nyapathi, clinical head & fertility specialist highlighted that women's fertility potential starts decreasing after their 30s and if couples wish to postpone parenthood, they need to take measures like fertility preservation to conceive at their convenience.

RAVICHANDRAN, NS RAJKUMAR COLLABORATE FOR THE THIRD TIME

The actor and producer are going with a fresh team of technicians and will have ad filmmaker, Anees, marking his directorial debut in Kannada with this project

Ravichandran and N S Rajkumar

A SHARADHAA

CRAZY Star Ravichandran and producer NS Rajkumar, are set to work together for the third time after Crazy Star, and Kannadiga.

The yet-to-be-titled film will mark the Kannada debut of Tamil filmmaker Aneesh, who has worked on a couple of films and many ads.

The film will have music composed by Karthikeyan, and cinematographer Sathish will be handling the camerawork.

According to a source close to the team, the project will be a family entertainer, and Ravichandran, is set to play a role that he has never played before in his stellar career.

With the film expected to go on floors in December, the makers are busy with the casting process.

Meanwhile, Ravichandran has an interesting lineup of films ready for release, including Rishika Sharma's Vijayanand biopic and Darshan-starrer, Kranti, which will feature him in pivotal characters.

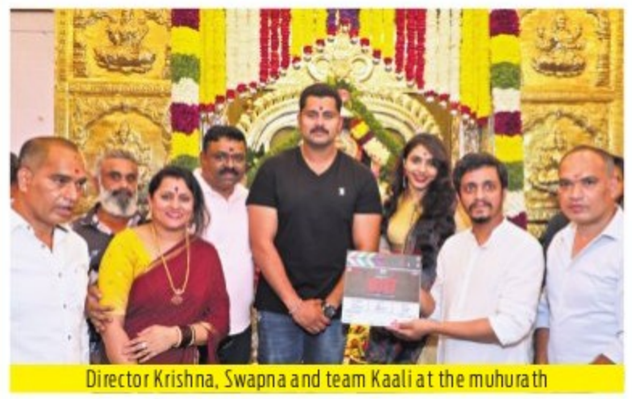
S Krishna's Kaali formally launched with the muhurat pooja

The love story with the Cauvery riot in the backdrop stars Abishek Ambareesh and Sapthami Gowda



Director Krishna, Swapna and team Kaali at the muhurath

CE FEATURES

PAILWAAN director S Krishna's next, Kaali, is set to star Bad Manners actor Abishek Ambareesh. and Kantara-fame Sapthami Gowda in the leads.

The makers had the script pooja a few days ago, and the film was officially launched on Monday with a simple muhurath in the presence of lead actors, producers and technicians.

Kaali is a love story of a Kannada Boy and a Tamil Girl set in the 1990s background of the Cauvery riots. State award winner S Krishna, who has worked as DoP in more than 25 films, and has delivered hits like Gajakesari, starring Yash, and Sudeep-starrer Pailwaan dedicates his second project to Puneeth Rajkumar.

Kaali is the third project made under Krishna's home banner, RRR Motions pictures. "Our production house has made its presence on television over the last 8 years with mega-hit serials, and our first production venture was with Sudeep's Pailwaan. If all had gone well, our second venture would have been with Puneeth Rajkumar, which could not take off due to his untimely demise. So our second project will stay vacant, as a tribute to him," shares Krishna.

Backed by Swapna Krishna, the makers are finalising the rest of the cast of Kaali before going on floors.

Meanwhile, Abishek Ambareesh is currently busy shooting a song and some patchwork for Suri's Bad Manners.

Not Out screenplay is based on the tiger-sheep game: Director Ambarisha

The film marks the debut of Ajay Prithvi and stars Rachana Inder

Ajay Prithvi, and Rachana Inder

CE FEATURES

THE shooting and post-production of Not out were wrapped up recently Now, the makers have headed to the Censor Board for clearance. Meanwhile, the team released the first motion poster from the film, in the presence of politician, Puttanna (MLC) and Kiss director AP Arjun.

The film, directed by Ambarisha has a tagline that translates to, 'A judgement from an invisible umpire.' "The screenplay is based on the tiger-sheep game, which is popular in the village in borders of Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, and Andhra Pradesh, " explains the director about his film.

While Ajay Prithvi plays an ambulance driver in is debut, and Rachna Inder will be seen as a nurse. The dark humour film also has Ravi Shankar as a part of the lead cast. "He will appear in a never-before-seen role and is the main pillar of this story. Suddhi also plays an important role," he adds.

The film backed by V Ravikumar and Shamshuddin, under the Rashtrakuta Pictures banner, has music by Judah Sandy and cinematography is by Halesh. Not Out has Gopalkrishna Deshpande, Salman, Govindegowda, and Prashant Siddi as part of the ensemble cast.

The makers, who are waiting for Censor Board clearance have plans to release the film this year-end or by early 2023.

PRAYASAHA RELEASED DATE LOCKED

The crime thriller, written and directed by Ranjith Rao, is looking for a December 9 release

CE FEATURES

WITH Ranjith Rao's directorial debut, Prayasaha, completing censor formalities and certified U/A, the makers have now zeroed in on a release date.

The crime thriller is expected to hit the screens on December 9. After a decade-long stint in television, Ranjith has written the story, screenplay, and dialogues of his debut feature film.

Billing Prayasaha as a heart-touching story with elements of thriller and suspense, Ranjith says, "Every relationship has its own story, and the concept of Prayasaha is based between assumption and truth. The film is set in Mangaluru and Bengaluru, and Prashant Patil's cinematography and Ashok's editing have made the film even more exciting."

Starring Rahul and Krishna Bhat as the lead, Prayasaha features Shine Shetty of Bigg Boss Kannada fame in an extended cameo. The cast also consists of actors Shobaraj Pavoor, Madhu Hegde, Sunil Sagar, and Vineet appearing in important roles.

Made under Arha Creations, Prayasaha will have music by Vijay Krishna.

A still from the film

'Hyperlink screenplay will be the highlight of Dharani Mandala ...'

CE FEATURES

SRIDHAR Shikaripura's directorial debut Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage is set to release this week. The film, which has its title drawn from the famous folk song, Punyakoti(which translates to 'centre of the earth) is based on an incident that happens over a time span of 24 hours, in and around Bangalore city. Speaking ahead of the film's release, the director shares that he has written a different kind of screenplay for Dharani Mandala... using hyperlinks. "It is a rare attempt in Kannada cinema. Such a screenplay has been explored in world cinema like Crash, Amorasperros, and Babel. We have also seen in the same type of writing in the Telugu film Vedham and the Tamil film Aaranya Kaandam. Though Kannada film directors have attempted this pattern they have rarely been noticed," says Sridhar. He goes on to share his inspiration behind the film. "Somehow, I ended up watching these kinds of films while growing up and they had a major influence on me when I wrote my debut. My film has five parallel stories."

Sridhar Shikaripura

Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage has also caught the attention of viewers with its posters. The director reveals that his past profession as a designer helped him achieve this with the help of two other professionals.

"Thirteen years ago, I entered the film industry as a designer. At that time, I wanted to work under Yogaraj Bhat, because I was a big fan of his film, Mungaru Male. I felt that the director was the hero in that film. My passion towards getting into direction started from there. However, I didn't get any opportunities to learn filmmaking from him. So I continued working on my design skills. Later, I learnt direction by assisting directors like Rajendra Singh Babu, Ghouse Peer, Ananth Urs and Puri Jagannadh," he shares.

Even though he assisted commercial film directors, Sridhar was always an admirer of world cinema. "However, the making of Dharani Mandala... will carry a shade of Puri Jaganaddh films," he says.

The film starring Naveen Shankar, Aishani Shetty and Yashwanth Shetty also has Jayashree Aradhya, Siddhu Moolimani, and Omkar playing important roles. "The film is all about coincidences, it is in fact the main theme of Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage. The film also has a philosophical side to it," he explains.

Dharani Mandala... has cinematography by Keerthan Poojary and edting by Ujwal Chandra, and music by Ronada Bakesh and Karthik Chennoji Rao.
